Paris Message Says Explorer's Body Is Found

Efforts Being Made To Confirm Report Body Located Off Norwegian Coast

CAPT. AMUNDSEN MISSING TWO WEEKS

Two Others Were Aboard Plane When It Disappeared In Arctic Search

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 2.—An unconfirmed report reached Paris this afternoon that the body of Roald Amundsen, missing Norwegian explorer, has been found in the sea off the Norwegian coast, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris.

Efforts are being made to obtain official confirmation of the report.

Capt. Amundsen was one of the three men aboard a French seaplane which set out from Tromsoe, Norway, two weeks ago today to search for the missing members of the Nobile expedition. The others in the place were Gene Guilbaud, the pilot, and Lieut. Leif Dietrichsen, another Norwegian explorer.

The plane was never definitely heard from, although fishermen reported seeing a plane 60 miles south of Bear Island on June 18, which may have been the Amundsen seaplane. Bear Island is about half way between the Spitzbergen coast and Tromsoe.

Rody P. Marshal, Noted Pittsburgh Attorney, Is Dead

Pneumonia Claims One Of Pittsburgh's Most Outstanding Attorneys

TOOK PART IN PROMINENT CASES

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 2.—Rody P. Marshal, 58, prominent attorney and nationally known sportsman, died early today from pneumonia at his home, Schenley farms after a month's illness.

His death followed the completion of one of his most important cases at the bar, the trial of the participants in the alleged election fraud here.

Marshal, who was educated in the Pittsburgh public schools and the University of Michigan, was the son of "Glorious Tom" Marshal, one of the outstanding barristers of his time. Following his graduation from college, he entered his father's law firm.

During the 38 years of his law practice in this city and throughout Pennsylvania Marshal was identified with most of the state outstanding cases. One of the most notable court victories was in defense of State Senator M. G. Leslie in the councilmanic investigation which resulted in several city offices being jailed. National recognition was brought to Marshal in the famed Dennison-Richardson case, in which he defended an aged Swissvale man in a breach of promise case. Probably the biggest case of his career was that of the Darlington heirs against the Pennsyivania Railroad for the Guyasuta Indian settlement.

Marshal is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. James G. Miller and Miss Margaret Marshal, and a son, John G. Marshal; three brothers, Thomas M. Jr., Meredith R. and Mark W.; a sister, Jean P. Marshal and three grandchildren.

Injuries Prove Fatal To Woman; Struck By Auto

Mrs. Agatha Wanic, Cliff Street, Steps In Front Of Car Driven By T. L. Mornes

HUSBAND WALKING BY HER SIDE AT TIME

Accident Occurs Shortly After Noon Sunday, On Atlantic Avenue In Oakland

Mrs. Agatha Wanic, aged 72, wife of Peter Wanic of No. 10 Cliff street, Oakland, was fatally injured early Sunday afternoon when she was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas L. Mornes of Barberton, O. The accident happened on Atlantic avenue.

Mrs. Wanic was rushed to the New Castle hospital where it was found that she had suffered a contusion on the head, a badly bruised hip and internal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Wanic attended services at St. Mary's Polish Catholic church in Oakland Sunday morning. They were returning from church about 12:30 p. m. Leaving the church they walked north along Atlantic avenue. At the north end of the built up section of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Wanic continued walking on the dirt road close to the concrete.

Starts to Cross Road.

To reach their home on Cliff street it was necessary to cross from the east to the west side of Atlantic avenue. Mrs. Wanic, who was walking on the left of her husband and next to the concrete, stepped on the concrete to cross the road and the next instant was struck by the right hand fender of the Mornes machine.

Mr. Mornes stopped his car within 15 to 20 feet, ran back and assisted in having Mrs. Wanic taken to the hospital. In a statement regarding the case he said that Mrs. Wanic had stepped directly in front of his machine. He was running slowly, but Mrs. Wanic was so close to him when she stepped to the concrete that it was impossible to stop before she was struck.

Mr. Mornes came from Barberton, O., to see his brother, Court Stenographer A. D. Mornes of East Falls street, who has been ill for some time. He was taking A. D. Mornes out for a little ride when the accident occurred.

Several persons, who were eye witnesses of the accident, say that the Mornes car was not running fast and that Mrs. Wanic stepped in front of it without having turned around to look if anything was coming.

Examination of the auto of Mr. Mornes showed that Mrs. Wanis had stepped into the side of the machine, the right front handle being bent. This was the only mark that could be found.

Mr. Wanic, by whose side she was walking, says that his wife did not say anything about crossing the road. The first he knew that she had attempted to cross the road was when he saw her lying by the side of the road and the machine stopped a few feet ahead. An investigation is being made by Coroner J. P. Caldwell.

Mrs. Wanic is survived by her husband, Peter Wanic.

Funeral Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's Polish Catholic church. Interment in Madonna cemetery.

Superintendent W. H. Kleckner In Charge; Five Hundred At Ceremony

Twelve months of operation without a single lost time accident was celebrated by the employes of the Lehigh Portland Cement company Saturday afternoon, June 30, when the Portland Cement association safety trophy, won by the local plant, was formally dedicated.

Distinguished visitors were present to aid in the celebration, and the personnel of the plant turned out to formally mark a safety record that is the pride of every man on the job.

The trophy is a sizable one, some five tons in weight, and is made of cement and Tuckahoe marble, but so skilfully have the elements been cast together that it has the finished appearance of carved marble. Facing Cascade street from the lawn of the office of the plant it is a notice to the world that during the year 1927 not an employe of the Lehigh Portland Cement company lost any time thru an accident in the mill. Hoover Enters Final Week As Cabinet Member

Republican Presidential Nominee Plans To Visit Coolidge Next Week

Hoover's Managers Anxious For Nation To Get Look At G. O. P. Candidate

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Herbert Hoover today entered what probably will be his last full week as secretary of commerce.

The Republican presidential candidate plans to leave Washington next week for the Summer White House where he is expected to hand his resignation to President Coolidge and then go to California for a series of "home coming" affairs and the formal notification of the nomination.

Work at Summer White House.

Reaching his desk early Hoover summoned a number of commerce department advisors. It was thought that Hoover would give much of his attention this week to departmental affairs, which he hoped to put in perfect order to be handed to his successor.

Chairman Hubert Work of the national committee is at the summer White House today and will be out of Washington most of the week. Aside from a few anticipated callers there will not be much of political nature confronting Hoover until he leaves Washington.

Tentative plans call for Hoover's arriving at San Francisco July 16.

Making No Speeches.

Hoover is making no speeches until after the notification ceremonies, according to the program. He discouraged a plan of his friends to bring about receptions in cities through which he would pass on the way west but it was indicated that should crowds gather at railway stations Hoover will offer few informal words of greetings.

HOOVER ENTERS FINAL WEEK AS CABINET MEMBER

Hoover's managers are anxious for the country to "get a look at Hoover" as his appearances before general audiences, especially in the middle-west have been infrequent. They admitted they have the personality element to contend with in the battle against the jovial Governor Al Smith of New York.

"We want to show the voters that Herbert Hoover is just as human as Governor Smith" one of the Republican leaders declared.

Hoover Will Win

"There will be a stiff fight in Ohio between Hoover and Smith, but the Republicans will win as we always do," Carmi Thompson, who directed the campaign of the late Senator Frank Willis to obtain the Ohio endorsement for the presidential nomination, declared after a conference with Secretary Hoover today.

Thompson said that Hoover had asked him to come to Washington to talk over the general situation. He was optimistic and said that a good organization was being built up in Ohio.

Hoover is devoting considerable time to the preparation of his acceptance speech, to be delivered at Leland Stanford University early in August. The farm and prohibition sections of the address have been given unusual attention, and both issues will be explained fully. Hoover's followers believe these two issues will be among the most important in the campaign.

The candidate intends to have a rough draft of the acceptance speech completed before he leaves Washington for the west. It was anticipated he would discuss various sections of the talk with President Coolidge when he visits the Summer White House.

The total number of licences granted during June this year was 108. The total number in June 1927 was 112. Only four of a difference shows that it takes more than Jupiter Pluvius to dampen the ardor of love. During the earlier days of June the number of licenses issued ran along about on an average with other months, but during the past two weeks there was a speeding up which brought the total close to last year.

DEDICATE SAFETY TROPHY SATURDAY AT CEMENT PLANT

is the award of the Portland Cement association, the New Castle plant being one of two plants in the entire state to win it for 1927.

Kleckner in Charge.

W. H. Kleckner, superintendent of the plant, was in charge of the day and at 2 o'clock called the assemblage, some 500 in size, to order. The band played the Star Spangled Banner, Rev. F. E. Stough, pastor of the St. John's Lutheran church, asked a Divine blessing and Mr. Kleckner made a brief opening address.

In it he said:

"Ladies and gentlemen: The object of this meeting is to unveil and dedicate the safety trophy presented to us by the Portland Cement association for having passed through the year 1927 without a single lost time accident.

"We have with us today, two gentlemen who have done as much, if not more, than anyone else to promote safety in the cement industry, and from whom you will hear later on.

"You men who are employed in this mill and quarry know that this company has spent thousands of dollars for your protection, and that your safety committee always stands ready to guard any point where there is danger, if reported to them. It is not the swish of burning powder, not the roar of exploding dynamite, not the crash of breaking machinery, nor the cry of warning that comes too late, but the tears of those who love and respect you and look to you for a home and the food that sustains life, for which we carry on this safety work.

"It now gives me great pleasure to introduce to you, Mr. A. J. R. Curtis, assistant general manager of the Portland Cement association at Chicago, who is here to represent the officers of the Portland Cement association."

Trophy Presented.

Following this introduction, A. J. R. Curtis, assistant to the general manager of the Portland Cement association, made his presentation address following which two little girls, Dorothy Kleckner, granddaughter of Superintendent Kleckner, and Viola Sera, daughter of Anthony Sera, a quarryman, unveiled the trophy.

In his address of presentation Mr. Curtis said:

"Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of New Castle and vicinity:

"This magnificent assemblage of happy people is quite different from the sober groups which in times past have gathered around the beloved victim of an accident.

"One of the real privileges of this generation is to witness the marvelous increase in the value placed on the human being, his welfare and his pleasures.

"Industry has awakened to the realization that one of its real purposes, as well as its first obligations, is to benefit and protect from harm those who enlist as willing workers.

"Mr. Kleckner, you (illegible) your organization have shown us a splendid achievement in operating the (illegible) hout 1927 without a single lost time accident.

"You have learned that co-operation is the golden key to success and we trust it will continue to unlock to all connected with the New Castle organization, the bounties of health and happiness during succeeding years.

"It is almost inconceivable that so large a group of men, constantly exposed to so great a variety of hazards, could continue uninterruptedly to avoid physical mishaps over an entire year. It means that every man has paid intelligent and painstaking attention to business.

"In addition to good team work it is evident that there has been an unusual measure of self-control, practiced by each individual.

"Some one said at a recent safety meeting that a man may be likened to a Corliss engine. First of all the engine must be a good machine, but it would be useless without steam behind it and it would tear itself to pieces unless equipped with a good governor. How many a competant hardworking man has failed for the lack of self-control the human governor? He who governs himself well may govern others.

"I now take pleasure in extending the congratulations of the entire cement industry to your president, Col. E. M. Young, your chief of accident prevention, Major H. A. Renninger, your superintendent, Mr. W. H. Kleckner, and to every employe of the plant and his family. Any amount of pride on your part is justified on this occasion.

"Let me congratulate, likewise, this thrifty community on the enterprize shown by this cement mill as one of your worthy and ambitious local industries. At this point it might be fair for me to condole with your local medical and surgical fraternity on loss of cement mill business, did I not realize how sincerely and wholeheartedly they have assisted in this accident prevention work.

"Your representatives, Messers, Schlicher and McFall received the formal award of this trophy at New York on May 23. It is nom my pleasant duty, acting by authority of the board of directors and on behalf of the members of the Portland Cement Association throughout America, to turn over to you, the Portland Cement Association safety trophy for 1927.

"It is recognized at the highest award obtainable in the cement industry. Very appropriately, it carries with it the highest honors our industry has to bestow.

"This trophy is a token of your leadership among cement mills and as such will long be held in high esteem by your organization and community. Still we must not forget that the real, tangible results of your efforts is this fine body of workers here today, complete in number, vigorous and unimpaired in physical faculties, hopeful happy and able to enjoy the good things of life.

"You have our best wishes for the continuance of your fine record."

Introduce Master Of Ceremonies

Following the unveiling of the trophy, Mr. Kleckner introduced the master of ceremonies of the day, Wesley Davy, Master Mechanic of the Lehigh Plant. On the platform back of Mr. Davy were a number of local men, each of whom was asked to speak briefly, and Major H. A. Renninger, Chief of the Accident Prevention Bureau of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company of Allentown, Pa.

Judge James A. Chambers of the Lawrence County Court was the first speaker called upon. He said, "the day has gone when industry believes that the cheapest thing they have is human life. Industrial leaders know today that human life is the most precious thing in the world, and they have taken wonderful strides towards the conservation of life and limb."

"It does not just happen that this safety trophy was won by this cement plant. It represents the co-operation of the management and the men, a co-operation that is to be commended.

"In the mercantile world we used to have the rule of Caveat Emptor, let the buyer beware, and in industry they said, business is business. Now they say the customer must be satisfied and the employe must be protected. The day has come when the individual is growing greater and the dollar less. Thank God, we have lived to see that day."

Other Speakers

Other speakers followed Judge Chambers. Assemblyman Bart Richards said that in his opinion the men most worthy of congratulation were the men who dynamited the stone from the quarries, the men who ground the stone and who ran the wheels of industry, the men who were actively engaged in turning out the product and who had done so in 1927 without a single lost time accident.

Mayor William H. Gillespie extended his felicitations to the company and the men for the splendid record, as did District Attorney J. Elder Bryan. Fred L. Rentz, president of The News, recalled the time when the ground now pitted by the steam shovels had been farm land over which he had roamed as a boy. "The holes dug by the shovels are not pretty ones," he said, "but the product they turn out goes to make roads and highways. This safety record is a truly remarkable one and every man of this plant can be proud of it."

T. F. Morehead, one of the stockholders of the Lehigh Company, and one of the seven men who first started a cement plant in New Castle, spoke briefly. In 1904 George Greer, Charles Greer, Joseph Vilsack, Edwin F. Norris, E. N. Ohl, Senator E. I. Phillips and Mr. Morehead started a cement plant in Croton. This was later taken over by Lehigh, and of the seven men who started the industry, Mr. Morehead is the only one left. He told of the early days when accidents were so prevalent, and contrasted it with today when the men of the company were celebrating an entire year's absence of accidents.

Safety Head

Major H. A. Renninger of Allentown, Pa., chief of the accident prevention bureau of the company, spoke glowingly of the safety record of New Castle plant. "On July 26 you will have completed two years' work without a lost time accident," he said, "and your president, Col. E. M. Young and the officers of the company are indeed gratified at such co-operation."

Major Renninger spoke of the birth of safety work and the wonderful strides it has made in the Lehigh organization. He was the last speaker on the program and following him Rev. Stough dismissed the gathering with a benediction.

In addition to the beautiful trophy which was unveiled Saturday, the plant has received a bronze shield which has been placed on the outside of the office building wall. This is the Lehigh safety trophy and shows that New Castle has taken its place along with Iola, West Coplay and Mitchell plants of the company. The names of the safety committee are engraved upon the trophy. They are: W. H. Kleckner, Wesley Davy, Charles H. Schlicher, F. Cox, C. Dinsmore, W. Dix, F. Kenehan, J. McFall, J. W. Miller.

Mr. Schlicher was chairman of the general committee of Saturday's celebration and the smoothness with which the program went off was a reflection of the committee's work. Following the program the guests admired the trophy, enjoyed the refreshments which had been provided and then witnessed a baseball game between the Lehigh and the Buckeye Girls baseball teams.

It was a day to be remembered at the Lehigh plant, one that it is hoped will be duplicated a year from now and a second year tablet placed upon the Portland Cement Association trophy.

Old City Farm May Be Utilized As Golf Course

Persons interested in the establishment of a municipal golf course to be located at the plot of land formerly used as a city farm will meet some time this week to discuss the proposition.

It is said that the farm would be ideal for golf and it would allow persons to play at a very small expense.

The city owns the land and it is probable that if established the golf course would be under the jurisdiction of the Recreational Facilities board.

WORKS HARD IN THE FIELD

Relies Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rankin, Illinois.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a tonic before and after my first child was born six years ago. Then when my second child came and I felt weak and rundown, I took it again. I am still taking it and I am feeling better. My mother used it for herself when I was small and always got good results. She still takes it. I do all kinds of heavy work, including my housework and I also help in the field. I recommend the Vegetable Compound and I am willing to answer any letters."—Mrs. Ben Obenland, Route 2, Rankin, Illinois.

FIRST CHURCH GOLFERS WIN

Win In Match With Golfers Of Other Presbyterian Churches Of City

As the matter stands today, the First Presbyterian golfers are the champion religious golfers of the city, if one might mix the two. Battling with their backs against their niblicks, and their courage screwed up to the breaking point, the First Presbyterians took on every degree of other Presbyterians on Saturday afternoon and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, the score stood 31 to 23 with the odds in favor of the First church.

At least that is the score turned in to the News by one of the F. P.'s. It was not audited nor attested, but the gentleman in charge of that little detail is reasonably honest.

Listed among the other Presbyterian golfers were members from Highland, Central, Mahoningtown and several other churches. Their combined efforts were of no avail. The horrifying details follow.

Americanism: A conviction that tooting a horn relieves you of all responsibility for what happens.

Perhaps a politician just seems crooked because he is trying to lean so many ways at once.

Doubtless those who read political platforms to discover what the next congress will do have also written their 1928 letter to Santa Claus.

"Marry him, gal," the miller said, "and save our home." So she did, and the old folks lived happily ever afterward on the alimony.

A conservative is a man who can't see the rotten limbs on a tree so long as he can pick plums.

HOOVER'S SUCCESSOR

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S work is not done. There will be another session of congress before he retires from the white house, and there is a matter of great importance that must be disposed of this summer. It is the naming of a successor to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

Finding a secretary of commerce of equal ability and as thoroughly prepared for the job is not a simple task. It is not adulation to say that there is only one Hoover. There are other men equipped for this important cabinet post but none of them may be available for public service. The public has long wondered why private business ever surrendered Mr. Hoover to Washington.

Under the administration of Secretary Hoover the commerce department has performed an indispensable service to the nation. To it can be traced directly new sources of foreign trade, domestic industrial expansion and production and marketing economies that have enabled American industries to better compete with foreign business. As recognized by Mr. Hoover the department has attained a degree of efficiency hitherto unknown to federal departments. His engineering training naturally impelled him to convert the department into a highly organized implement for practical purposes. Along the line of its organization he has directed it into so many useful enterprises in behalf of American business that it has become an intimate factor in the life and work and, therefore, in the prosperity of the nation.

President Coolidge has shown rare acumen and judgment in the selection of cabinet officers and men to fill other high government posts. He can be depended upon to place the best available men behind the Hoover desk.

A PENNSYLVANIA MASSACRE

CELEBRATIONS such as that at Wilkes Barre this week commemorating the Wyoming massacre of 1778 serve to remind the people of Pennsylvania that their state has a recorded history which, though written in the comparatively short period of twenty-four decades, was written at a fast and furious rate. Where else has so much important history been packed into so brief a period?

The Indian massacre in the Wyoming Valley on July 3, 1778, in which approximately 100 white settlers, many of them women and children, were ruthlessly slain, was one of the great tragedies and horrors of the Revolutionary war and colonial periods. It is one of the three Indian massacres that live in all their terrifying detail in the minds of every American.

Pennsylvania probably owes its leadership among the states of the world partly to the formidable obstacles it overcame in its settlement days. Those settlers had to fight every inch of their way against the wilderness and the savages with which it was infested. The state has inherited much of its strength and vision from those hardy, courageous pioneers.

Doubtlessly, there were among those early settlers men and women who loved nothing better than a good fight with the savages and nature against tremendous odds, but they must also have seen that they were fighting for big stakes. Visionary as they were, they could not have seen the great empire of which they were laying the foundation stones. Pennsylvania's debt to them can never be repaid. The least posterity can do is to remember them.

CONCERNING HOLIDAYS

SOME day somebody somewhere will be moved to utter a warning against the unlicensed multiplication of legal holidays. The more holidays we get, the less inclined people are to take them seriously. A few enthusiastically observed would be better for the object intended than many indifferently celebrated or neglected altogether.

New Year's long ago lost its significance for most people. Even the public schools usually do not close for Lincoln's birthday or for Columbus day. Comparatively few observe Thanksgiving as a religious festival. Even Memorial day has become more a touring and outing occasion than one for remembering those who saved the Union.

If legal holidays are to be merely occasions for escaping work they might as well be distributed evenly through the year. It would simplify matters, for instance, to have a specified day of every month made a legal holiday, taking its name in case from some historic anniversary occurring within the month.

The tendency, of course, is always to multiply, never to decrease, the number of holidays. We may ignore a holiday, but we never legislate it out of existence; and it is small honor to a hero or an historic event for the public generally either to neglect the holiday set aside in commemoration or to turn the celebration into channels foreign to its original purpose.

Who will be first seriously to suggest a revision of holiday schedules in the interests of a harassed and confused mankind?

ON THE SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK

Down in front of Casey's old brown
wooden stoop,
On a summer evening we found a merry group.
Boys and girls together, we would
waltz and sing,
While Dinnie played the organ
On the sidewalks of New York.

East side west side,
All around the town
Tots sang ring a rosy,
London bridge is falling down.
Boys and girls together,
Me and Mamie Roe
Tripped the light fantastic
On the sidewalks of New York.

There's where Johnnie Casey with little Jennie Crow
And Jakie Crans the baker who always had the dough,
as light as cork,
First picked up the waltz step,
On the sidewalks of New York.

Things have changed since those times, some are up in gee,
Others they are on the hog, they all
just feel like me.
Some would give up all they had
Could they but once more waltz
And take a twirl with their best girl
On the sidewalks of New York.

Dear Fred: Judging from remarks of yours at odd times, I am inclined to believe you are a lover of accuracy and plainness, especially in the art of chirography. So that you have noticed at times—and with plain and perhaps with a little anger—how many individuals make no distinction between their n's and their u's, claiming that no distinction is necessary, etc. But let me impart to you, as a dead secret between friends, a novel method to take those smartalecks down a peg or two. Take two small pieces of writing paper looking exactly similar in every respect, and with pen and ink ask your conceited friend to write, first, "Harry Lander." Then ask him to write on the other little sheet, "Harry Lauder." Mix them, then say to the writer: "Which of these is Harry Lander, and which is Harry Lauder?" They can not tell which is which; they are taught a good lesson and one worth remembering the rest of their days.

4 Good Men, All Dry.
Helping the Farmer.
Just a Little Usury.
Lord Terrington's Error.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Hoover and Smith, both on a dry platform. Wet Democrats will be told: "Don't worry, we don't really mean that dry stuff."

Wet Republicans will be asked: "Have we Republicans ever acted dry? Have you had any trouble getting what you wanted?"

Two dry platforms with a wet understanding in the program.

Democrats want to help farmers and expect farmers to help them. They promise that what the farmers cannot sell in the United States shall be sold abroad. But "the cost of surplus marketing will be put on the commodity."

This means that what it costs to sell surplus products in Europe will be charged to the farmer.

After he has paid his government's charges for foreign marketing, he will agree with the power trust that our government isn't capable or honest enough to engage in business successfully.

The Bible warns us against usury. See Deuteronomy 28—21: "Thou shalt not lend upon usury to thy brother; usury of money, usury of victuals, usury of anything that is lent upon usury."

That did not keep big money gentlemen from raising the price of "call money" in Wall Street to 8 per cent Friday. They may have a private understand with Providence.

Strangely, 8 per cent money did not keep prices from going up. Our laws against usury remind you of prohibition laws. What doesn't suit the big fellows doesn't "go."

Lord Terrington, British peer, stole $300,000, admits it and goes to jail for four years. That happens in Britain.

Had the gentleman come to this country and made it $30,000,000 instead of $300,000, he would be on his private car or yacht now, and able lawyers would be denouncing anybody trying to interfere with him.

Or, as Senator Nye puts it, "you can't convict $1,000,000."

The platform promises to give the Philippine Islands back to the Filipinos, of whom the platform says: "They have succeeded in maintaining a stable government."

The Democrats might give the Philippines to the Japanese. They won't give them to the Filipinos, because the Filipinos couldn't take them.

Those admirable little gentlemen have not "succeeded in maintaining a stable government."

The United States has maintained it for them, which is different. However, platforms must not be taken too literally.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, who forced Congress to admit that the people of the United States might own their own Muscle Shoals plant, is out against the Democratic platform. He doesn't see how any third party could be organized. Which means that he and millions of others that think the farmer has been badly treated, intend to remain Republican none the less.

The Democratic platform promises to "outlaw war." Women are delighted with that. They hope it will work better than the law to outlaw whisky. That didn't work well, and unfortunately whisky and war are brothers. To get rid of either you must do more than write words in a platform or law book, YOU MUST CHANGE MEN.

The Democratic nomination is a step in the right direction toward tolerance in religious matters. Thomas Jefferson was determined that this government should not support, recognize or discriminate against any religion.

The nomination of Gov. Smith is a step toward realization of plans made by those that established this government.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

ON THE LAST DAY

With only one more day to live, and only one
I wonder what great task I'd work upon.
Granted full strength for those fast
fleeting hours
I wonder on what deeds I'd spend my powers.

The fancy comes that I should run to see
The countless friends who have been kind to me,
And I should pause, the while I rushed along
To beg another's pardon for some wrong.

I think I'd waste no time on selfish
deeds
But only labor for my spirit's needs,
As one about to journey far away
Goodbye to all I've known I'd want to say.

I'd have no vain illusions then of fame,
I'd see how cheap are things men
strive to claim.
For that last day allowed on earth to me,
I'd be the man I've often wished to be.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

IMPULSES

Miss Jackson, after eleven years' experience at San Quentin State Prison, declares that women criminals are the victims of uncontrolled impulse rather than of a physiological leaning toward crime.

"There is no criminal type among women prisoners," she says. "Crime among women generally follows an uncontrolled impulse in which women leave the usual path of life and make a detour into crime without thought of the results that follow."

It appears from this that self control in all emergencies is the virtue most needed.

The writer was once a prison official and frequently visited the State prisons of Illinois. He was surprised to find that the class of convicts that gave the least trouble was the murderers. The reason is that murders are usually committed on a sudden impulse and a man need not be a hardened criminal to be guilty of this crime.

Of course there are some people who are simply lacking in moral sense, their whole tone of morals is low and all they need to commit a crime is the opportunity.

But all of us are potential criminals when it comes to impulse, a sudden surging of passion or some overwhelming desire.

Parents should learn from this that the most necessary lesson to teach children is self control. Children do not need so much to be taught obedience as to be taught how to obey their own better selves.

Any one who finds his passions too strong for him and who loses his sense of restraint when under the influence of them is in danger of committing any crime.

Self discipline may be very hard; to people of strong emotions it is sure to be hard.

But it is none the less essential.

Most lawsuits would be avoided if people would control themselves and could learn to be good sports and take their losses without yielding to a desire for vengeance.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HOW SCHOOLS GROW.

Public high schools are rapidly supplanting denominational academies of Protestant denominations, while Roman Catholic schools are increasing, both in number of schools and in enrollment, according to a study just made public by the Bureau of Education, Department of Interior.

Actually, the enrollment in private high schools and academies in the United States increased from 94,931 students (47,534 boys and 47,397 girls) in 1,632 schools during 1890 to 248,076 students (114,617 boys and 133,459 girls), in 2,350 schools during 1926.

The number of denominational schools reporting to the Bureau, increased from 910 schools with an enrollment of 52,441 students in 1895 to 1,703 schools with an enrollment of 185,641 students in 1926.

The extent to which public schools are supplanting denominational academies of Protestant denominations is indicated by the fact that nearly every Protestant denomination reported a decrease during the period 1895-1926 in either the number of schools or the number of students enrolled, or in both.

Roman Catholic schools showed an increase during the period 1895-1926 in both the number of schools and enrollment, expanding from 280 schools with an enrollment of 12,777 in 1895 to 1,196 schools with an enrollment of 131,436 students in 1926.

It is nevertheless true that two of the Protestant Private Schools did report a small increase. The Seventh Day Adventists' schools increased from 20 in 1915 with an enrollment of 1,834 to 31 schools with an enrollment of 2,979 students in 1926. Methodist Episcopal schools were 60, with 5,958 students in 1895, and 64 with 9,009 students in 1926.

SHORT-SIGHTED EMPLOYERS

Employers who keep men at the lowest possible wages can't see over the top of their spectacles. They don't seem to grasp the fact that if a man makes only a living, or less, he has no money left with which to buy the very goods that he is helping to manufacture. Wise employers increase the number of buyers by paying the highest possible wages.

Organized labor, known as union labor, is not popular in all quarters and all of the activities of organized labor cannot be commended. The fact remains that organized labor has been a tremendous factor in making wages high in many lines, and high wages have proved to be as good for the manufacturer and the general public as they have for the workers. Without good wages there is no such thing as general prosperity.

RECOGNIZING A CHANCE

Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, says: "I don't believe in so-called supermen. There are many men in humble positions who know more than highly placed men, and they would prove it if they had the opportunity. It is just the want."

What Mr. Schwab did not say is that many men get the opportunity but lack the courage to seize it. They

THE GREATEST PERSON

For more than two months I have been receiving letters from readers who were interested in a discussion started in this column about the greatest living person. The discussion has spread far, and several newspaper groups have taken it up and invited opinions of readers, so that the subject seems to have been rather thoroughly covered.

The most interesting characteristic of my pile of letters on this subject is the obscurity of most of the candidates named. By far the greater number of nominees for the title of greatest individual are persons I have never heard of heretofore. Hometown philanthropists, notably capable mothers of families, revered fathers of the persons writing the letters, parish clergymen who are unknown outside of their parishes but are enshrined in the hearts of their parishioners, and family doctors who have quietly helped back to health some person beloved by the one who has written in. These are the nominees who have attracted most of my readers who have taken the trouble to write to me about the greatest individual.

Of course I think these correspondents are right. I do not know who the greatest singer is, but I feel certain that he has never sung in public. Perhaps it is a country woman who has sung nothing but lullabys. Perhaps it is a factory worker who sings on his way home from work, despite family misfortune and sorrow. And may it is a school teacher who has a singing in her soul today because she has succeeded in bringing understanding to the budding intelligence of some other woman's child.

Who is the greatest artist? I do not know, but I doubt that his name has ever been presented for membership in any art society. His pictures are painted by a loving fancy upon walls not made of stone and mortar. Perhaps he has before him as he works the picture of the home he hopes to build for his loved ones before the sun of life sinks much lower. Perhaps he dwells upon a picture that Memory preserves and that no critic shall ever profane. A smile, more shadowy than that of Mona Lisa, he glimpsed a long time ago, and he is the artist who has made that smile imperishable in the gallery of the undying soul.

Lindbergh, Edison and Ford continue to be the most popular famous individuals among those named by my correspondents. But the crown of bay leaves goes to the Unknown Hero whose fame is immortal because it is unknown to the world.

Plan To Resume Five Inquiries

Conventions Over, Senatorial Investigations Will Be Renewed With Vigor

PLANS MADE BY LAST CONGRESS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Both conventions over, a host of congressional investigations sprang into renewed life today.

Plans were being made for continuance of five senatorial probes ordered during the last session of congress. These were:

1.—An investigation of the Salt Creek, Wyoming, oil fields by the senate public lands and serveys committee.

2.—Investigation of factors surrounding the sinking of the submarine S-4 last December off Provincetown, Mass., by a subcommittee of the senate naval affairs committee.

3.—Inquiry into New Jersey senatorial primaries campaign expenditures and practices during the recent contests in which Hamilton Fish Kean was nominated to a seat in the United States senate, by the Reed slush fund committee.

4.—Conclusion of probes into preconvention presidential campaign expenditures by a special senate committee headed by Senator Sheimer (R) of Oregon.

5.—A probe to determine whether political offices were "sold" in Georgia and other states, by a subcommittee of the senate post offices and roads committee.

Three Women Are In County Jail, Result Of Raid

Sheriff H. M. Reynolds And Deputies Find Place Guarded By Three Police Dogs

Three women are in the county jail as a result of arrests made by Sheriff H. M. Reynolds and Deputies William Reynolds and Kenneth Musser Saturday night.

The women are Mrs. Margaret Pastore, Adrene Hannon and Dorothy Wilson, the two last named said to be from Pittsburgh. There are several charges made against the women before Alderman Hamilton, including one against Mrs. Pastore for keeping a disorderly house.

Sheriff Reynolds stated this morning that the house is known as the "Italian Cafe" and is located on the West Pittsburg road in Taylor township. The raid was made as the result of complaints made to the sheriff.

"When we arrived about 10 o'clock" said Sheriff Reynolds we found several automobiles parked about the place. There were three Police dogs tied about the place, and when the dogs began to bark, a number of male inmates ran from the house. When we went inside we found a bull dog and several other male inmates, who were taken into custody for questioning.

"We found the house, which is quite a large one, with four bedrooms upstairs, equipped with a buzzer system, communication from the first to the second story." Sheriff Reynolds estimates that there were a dozen or fifteen men in the place when he and his deputies drove up, but on account of the three Police dogs it was impossible to surround the house without the alarm being given. The women are being held for a hearing.

"Konjola Proved A Blessing To Me" She Says

Kidney And Liver Trouble Had Made Life Miserable For This Local Lady.

MRS. JENNIE LONG
Seavy Photo

Report after report is being received from every section of New Castle in which men and women are describing the wonderful relief this new Konjola medicine has given them in cases of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders. Just a few days ago Mrs. Jennie Long, living at 107 Quest street, this city, made the following statement to the Konjola Man at Love and Megown's drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where large crowds are calling daily to find out for themselves about this surprising compound.

"Konjola brought an improvement all over my system," said Mrs. Long. "It completely ended the kidney and liver trouble that had made life miserable for me and that is why I am strongly indorsing this medicine to other sufferers.

"My whole system was rundown especially my kidneys. They were causing my feet to swell and sometimes I couldn't begin to put on my shoes. My limbs became sore and achy and sharp pains would shoot thru my back over the region of my kidneys. When I noticed how my face was flushed all the time, I became worried and found out that I had high blood pressure. Even my eyes seemed to bulge out of their sockets and I had such severe headaches that sometimes I thought my whole head would break. The sluggish condition of my liver caused me to feel tired and drowsy the greatest part of the time and my bowels never moved regularly as they should. All this made me very nervous and it was very seldom that I was able to get a good night's sleep.

"One day my husband brought home a bottle of Konjola for me to try. At the time I had no faith in such medicines as this, but I was soon surprised at the relief it was giving me. When I saw how it was helping me, I decided to take the full treatment. Now, my liver and kidneys are back to normal and I enjoy the best of health in every way. The swelling in my feet and the pains in my back are gone, the headaches have left and the redness in my face has disappeared. It even increased my appetite and helped my digestion so that I no longer suffer from belching and gas bloating like I used to. I have enough strength to work all day without feeling tired and exhausted and at night I enjoy sound sleep until morning. Yes, Konjola proved a blessing to me and I am glad to tell others about it."

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Herbert Hoover Is Ardent Disciple Of Isaak Walton; Wrote Booklet On Fishing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Herbert Hoover is one of the nation's leading disciples of Izaak Walton, as well as a distinguished economist, engineer and scientist.

Some of the human characteristics of the Republican candidate that go back to the creeks of his Iowa boyhood for their origin were disclosed today by one of Hoover's friends.

Hoover once prepared a booklet on fishing, urging that the game fisheries of America be restored. The bureau of fisheries, under his jurisdiction, has been contributing to this objective for years.

"The reason for it all is that fishing is good for the soul of man," Hoover said, reflecting a belief likewise shared by President Coolidge and Governor Al Smith, the Democratic candidate.

"Man and boy, the American is a fisherman.

"That comprehensive list of human rights, the Declaration of Independence, is firm that all men, and boys, are endowed with certain inalienable rights, including life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, which obviously includes the pursuit of fish."

Hoover philosophy says that "all men are equal before fish," and fishing is not entirely a rich man's sport.

"But I ask you if in the face of all this overwhelming efficiency and progress is there less time between bites?" said Hoover. "Yes, it is too long between bites; we must have more fish in proportion to the water."

Hoover said every fisherman is entitled to catch fifty fish a season, under the American constitution.

The fishing document also contains this strange statement:

"Fishermen are not liars."

NAGGING CHILDREN

Don't try and make your child another "you." He has his own gifts, his own talent, his own natural bent. Help him to develop himself. We can all be sure we are not perfect enough to be models, and even if we were we have no right to try and fashion another in our image. The dearest thing a human being has is his individuality, his personality, and his capacity for self-expression. Give guidance when necessary, but above all give the boy a chance to be himself.

A MILLION DOLLAR CHANCE

When Kroger, multimillionaire grocer of Cincinnati, gave each of his six children a million dollars apiece he took a long chance on spoiling their lives. The possession of easy money too often destroys incentive to effort the human race would make no progress.

June 1928 Breaks Records For Number Of Wet Days

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 2.—Another world record has been broken, smashed and shattered. Along there in 1881 the month of June hung up a victory for dampness and for these many years the record has gone unchallenged—that is, up to last month.

The powers of rain then took up their work in serious manner and for twenty days they pelted the land with dampness. Down sunk the old record under water and mud until it left this June standing erect and triumphant as the wettest June within the memory of man—and meteorological records.

George S. Bliss, forecaster of the United States Weather Bureau, discussed the business as he entered the new world record. The month of June, 1881, had only sixteen days of rain, he said, and was considered a world-beater for wetness. This month there were eighteen out of the thirty days in which 1-100 of an inch or more of rain descended, while two days there were trifling drizzles. Total rainfall for the month was 6.77 inches, where the normal is only 3.24 inches. The highest temperature was 88 in June and the lowest was 57 on June 23.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, July 2.—This is the season of the year when the boy and girl hitch-hikers descend upon the city. The college year over, they bum their way here with a few dollars or nothing, trusting to luck to see to it that they have a good time and want for nothing in the biggest city. The boys seek out jobs aboard ship or hire out as help in resort hotels, or bunk with friends or fraternity brothers. With what they can scrape up by means of appeals to Pa or Ma, or borrowings from trusting or unresisting acquaintances, they have a grand time summering in Manhattan and environs.

Last year a young friend of mine posted his white flannels and dinner coat to general delivery, New York, and hitch-hiked a thousand miles to the big city. Of the distance he had to walk 40 or 50 miles.

After exhausting all of the weekend and dinner possibilities afforded by his friends, and having made the acquaintance of several companionable young women whom he could take to parties when he was able to crash them, he slept in parks or on benches, eating in places where it is possible to get a meal for 20 cents, and bathing at municipal bathhouses or bathing beaches. When there was a party to go to he got his dress clothes from the checkroom in which he kept them, and shaved and adorned himself in one of the booths available for such a purpose in the Grand Central and Pennsylvania stations.

His mornings he spent in the public library devouring the books his curious soul longed for, or in Metropolitan Museum of Art, or wandering in the streets, absorbing the color of the city. Afternoons he joyfully accompanied a real estate salesman to sell lots in the far reaches of Long Island Westchester or New Jersey. This usually meant a free meal, certainly an entertaining ride and possibly some companionable conversation with a more or less attractive young woman.

One evening, broke and all the loan possibilities exhausted, he sang songs for nickels and dimes aboard a ferry. He knew only three songs, learned upon the campus, and was put to it to disguise the words of the varsity and class hymns so that they would not be recognized by any chance alumnus of the college he attended. The evening netted 53 cents and a banana, the latter a donation of a kindly old lady.

He "crashed" everything that suggested that it might result in experience or entertainment, such as producers' calls for chorus men, invitations to free lectures on spiritualism, single-tax and interracial strife in Montenegro. He tried out as usher in a movie cathedral, as a window demonstrator of fountain pens, as messenger for a Wall Street house. He made it a rule to keep a job only three days.

His summer's sport cost him 55 cents, which was the difference between what he had when he left the campus and what he had when he got back, after hitch-hiking from New York. He told me he encountered a number of young men—and several young women—who were vacationing in New York in the vagabond manner.

New York newspaper offices are being besieged with offers from young men and young women, some with aviation experience, to undertake all sorts of aero adventures in return for financial backing from the newspapers. They want to fly to Russia, to Japan, to Patagonia.

Incidentally, New York newspapers refused to sponsor the flight of Amelia Earhart, the Boston girl who was first to hop from North America to England. They were not anxious to pay a woman to try and kill herself. They similarly refused Ruth Elder. Mrs. Frances Grayson and Mabel Boll. However, after Miss Earhart succeeded in getting across a newspaper paid her for her exclusive story.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

OVER THERE

"Mrs. Ostrich was a strong minded lady-bird. We Bobolinks needed no one to tell us that Mrs. Ostrich spoke very firmly and it was evident she meant what she said.

"Oliver Ostrich gave a sigh of relief. 'Very well, my dear, that is all I wished to make sure of,' said he. 'It is a lucky thing that you are on your way to the Ostrich Farm, for that is what I called you back for—to ask you to take the Bobolinks over so they could see what the place looked like. These little birds are from the north, where none of our race live and they tell me they are sightseeing in our country. Of course, there is nothing like the farm for seeing interesting things. Every stranger must visit it at least once while he is here. Do you mind taking them over to meet one of our friends?'

"'Not a bit,' replied Mrs. Ostrich, cordially. 'Come on, Bobolinks. Hop on my back and we will be over there in no time. Goodby, husband. Keep the eggs warm and be sure not to sleep too soundly. I had a dreadful time trying to wake you up yesterday morning. Goodness knows what would happen if an enemy crept upon you when you were like that! I'll be back at 9 o'clock sharp.'

"Away trotted Mrs. Ostrich with us Bobolinks upon her back, and soon Oliver Ostrich was lost to sight among the sand hills.

"Although not quite as large as her husband, Mrs. Ostrich could run just as fast, and before long we saw ahead of us a lot of white streaks. These turned out to be the pickets in a fence. And beyond the fence was a sea of heads—heads that bobbed up and down as their owners moved about. Then we got close enough to see the long curved necks and then the plumed bodies of the ostriches—why, there must have been hundreds and hundreds of them. Mrs. Bobolink and I were quite used to seeing lots of birds together—sometimes when the Bobolinks gathered to make the trip south the sky was just filled with them. But somehow the crowd beyond the fence seemed greater than any we had ever seen, or perhaps it only seemed so because the birds were so large and their feathers so fluffy and they were all shut up together.

"At any rate we could hardly wait until Mrs. Ostrich introduced us to one of her captive friends—we did want to ask some captive so many questions. When Mrs. Ostrich was yet quite a distance from the fence she stopped and peered cautiously about. Not a two-legs in sight outside the fence or inside—as far as we could see. We even rose high in the air to make sure. When we told Mrs. Ostrich we spied no one, step by step, she went toward the yard. When she had reached the rails of the fence, she gave a low hiss. Quick as a flash through the fence popped a head."

Boy Is Drowned Near Lorain, Ohio

LORAIN, O., July 2.—A holiday trip here ended Sunday in the death by drowning of Raymond A. Cummings, 16, of Ellet, near Akron.

The youth, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cummings, came here Saturday and expected to remain over the Fourth of July.

Young Cummings set several fish lines along the shore of Lake Erie Saturday night before retiring and was up early Sunday to view his catch.

A half hour after the boy left the house, his father reported the youth missing.

A search was instituted and Raymond's camp was found in the water. Life guards were unable to find the body. Later a woman, who also had placed several lines in the water, pulled in one of the lines with the aid of several other persons and found the youth's body entangled in the hooks.

Raymond was a member of the Ellet council of Boy Scouts and members of the organization will be pallbearers at the funeral Thursday from the Clague funeral home at Ellet.

Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

The ring came back with a bottle—
-with a bottle

The ring came back with a bottle—a bottle of Listerine—which explained more clearly than words that halitosis was the reason for breaking the engagement.

Brutal? Not at all. Halitosis is avoidable and therefore inexcusable. People who permit themselves to have it, do not deserve much consideration.

Don't fool yourself that you never offend this way. You simply cannot know—because halitosis doesn't announce itself to the victim. The one way to make sure of yourself is to rinse the mouth systematically with Listerine every day—especially before meeting others.

Listerine ends halitosis because it is a powerful deodorant.

If you need proof of this, rub a bit of onion on your hand and then apply Listerine clear. Immediately, the odor is gone. Even the strong odor of fish yields to this treatment.

North Beaver Man Injured

Ira Hoffman, 62, Struck By Motorcycle While Walking On Road

Ira Hoffman, aged 62, who resides on the Miller farm, south of Mahoningtown, in North Beaver township, is in a seriously injured condition at the New Castle hospital, as a result of being struck Saturday night by a motorcycle, while walking along the public highway in or near Willow Grove district. At the hospital today, it was reported that the condition of Mr. Hoffman remained unchanged.

The motorcycle, which struck Mr. Hoffman, belonged to a man named W. F. Davis, according to the report made to the New Castle hospital authorities. Mr. Hoffman was removed to the hospital as soon as possible following the accident.

He was in a delirious condition, when he first arrived at the institution. There had been no improvement since that time, the hospital authorities stated today.

His principal injury consists of severe lacerations of the head. An X-Ray may have to be taken to determine the full extent of his injuries.

FIVE INJURED IN PLANE CRASH AT PITTSBURGH

Lack Of Gasoline Caused Plane To Make Forced Landing And Crash To Earth

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 2.—Lack of gasoline was today blamed for an airplane crash late yesterday in which five persons, including the pilot, were injured. The plane, a Ryan monoplane, came to the ground in a forced landing about two miles from Bettis Field, McKeesport, from a height of approximately 400 feet.

Earl C. Dean, president of the American Society for the Promotion of Aeronautics, and his wife were in the plane when it chashed. Jack Smith was piloting the craft. Dean told Bettis Field officials that he thought the gasoline supply in the plane failed. Smith was only slightly cut and bruised.

The other passengers in the plane also were only slightly injured.

Some Of Scouts To Remain At Camp

Eager To Stay Longer Than Two Week's Camping Period Alloted To Them

Anxious to escape the heat of the city, Camp John M. Phillips attracted a large crowd of visitors Sunday and the gentle breezes and inviting shade of the camp property more than welcomed them.

According to the rule of the camp, all the Scouts keep the Holy Day very strictly. Services are held at the camp grounds and other Scouts are taken to the city to observe mass.

After a week of camping some of the boys expressed a desire to stay at the camp for the remainder of the summer months. From Lawrence county a large number of boys who are not Scouts have registered for the camp. They will receive the same careful attention and the planned program as the Scouts, say camp officials. There have also been a large number of boys, including Scouts, outside Lawrence county and from other states who have registered.

The Sunday dinner at camp is always an elaborate affair. To the surprise of the boys, although they have always received the best possible meals during the week, Mrs. W. G. Ayers, the official camp cook, far passed the boys' expectations when, after extensive arrangements, the meal was served to the Scouts. Mrs. Ayers is quite a friend of the boys and when the camp staff was being arranged for the year they put in an earnest request that she be included.

LeRoi Norton, the camp director, is still improving his program. Mr. Norton is capable for this position and with the help of his staff he has made Camp Phillips a place that parents like to send their boys, and where more and more boys are coming yearly.

Striking Miners Beat Injunction

(International News Service)

ROSSITER, Pa., July 2.—By holding Sunday church services in Jefferson county, striking miners and their families, members of the Magyar Presbyterian church here, today had circumvented an Indiana county court injunction which forbade the congregation from meeting and singing on the church grounds. The Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation, averring the singing had affected the morale of its non-union miners, obtained the injunction.

A week ago the congregation's meeting, held in defiance of the injunction, was broken up by state police and deputy sheriffs. Yesterday, meeting on Jefferson county ground, the congregation was undisturbed.

The very low cut back decolletage is illustrated by Lois Moran in two black gowns, the one (center) of taffeta with a huge bow bringing up the back directly beneath the decollete, and at right in a chiffon velvet in which the neckline is outlined with rhinestones. Philadelphia Hikers Get Many Lifts

Two Go Through City Enroute Home From Marion, Ohio, To Philadelphia

"It's better than farming" was the comment given by Harold Bradley and George Maule, two Philadelphia boys who are enroute home again after hoofing their way from Philadelphia to Marion, O., a distance of over 500 miles.

According to one of the hikers the trip to the Ohio city was accomplished in two days. They expect to make the return trip in three days.

After graduating from the Quarryville high school located in the outskirts of Philadelphia just a few days ago, the two decided to "bum" their way to Marion to see a relative of one of the boys.

"Our clas at school didn't take any trips this year, so we thought we would take one ourselves" said one. Now their jaunt is almost completed.

On their way from Philadelphia to Marion the boys came along the Lincoln highway but on their return expect to receive "lifts" from motorists traveling the Lakes-to-Sea route.

New Enemy To Pine Trees Now Threatens

Agricultural Departments In Battle To Check Spread Of Woodgate Rust

Attacking Trees In New York State; Quarantine Is Likely To Be Ordered

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of the News)

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 2.—Pine trees in Pennsylvania are threatened with a newly-discovered disease similar in many respects to the blight which destroyed chestnut trees in that state some years ago.

The Federal Horticultural Board and the Pennsylvania State Department of Agriculture are studying the disease with a view to working out a plan to prevent its spread from southern New York where it was discovered in a virulent form not long ago by Dr. H. H. York of the New York state conservation commission. The disease is rustlike in appearance and has been named Woodgate rust, taking its name from Woodgate, N. Y., where it was first found.

Scientists know little about the new disease. In the vicinity of Woodgate it has attacked Scotch pine trees only but experiments have proved that other species of pines, particularly the valuable hard pines, are susceptible to its ravages. The rust spreads from tree to tree without an intermediate host, causing galls on the trunk and branches of trees, stunting their growth and rendering them entirely worthless for commercial purposes.

Using the power vested in his office under the quarantine laws, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine called a conference recently of members of the Federal Horticultural Board and state agricultural and forestry officials to consider the best way of preventing the spread of Woodgate rust. W. H. McCubbin of Harrisburg, represented the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture at the conference and suggested that the sections of New York state in which the disease is known to exist be quarantined provided is was found that a quarantine was the most practical method of checking the spread into other states.

In the opinion of Dr. C. L. Marlatt, chairman of the Federal Horticultural Board, the disease is "very serious" and he agreed that it might be advisable to quarantine the infected areas as a precautionary measure. The Board will give the subject careful study in the next few weeks, he said.

So far the rust has been found only in two districts in New York state. One district embraces the counties of Oneida, Herkimer and Lewis in the north central and the other includes the counties of Franklin, Clinton and Essex in the northern part of the state.

Dr. York and G. F. Gravatt of the United States Bureau of Plant Industry, who have studied Woodgate rust found nearly 50 per cent of all Scotch pine trees in these two districts infected with the disease. They believe the rust has been present in these areas for at last 30 years in a dormant state. They believe it might have come from the Black Forest in Bavaria, since the pines in the southern New York area were planted in 1856 by a Bavarian farmer. They are also working on the theories that it might be a new form of a gall-producing rust well-known on the Pacific Coast; that it might be of Asiatic origin; that it might be something entirely new to entomologists and mycologists.

The appearance of the new pine rust comes at a time, when after years of rigid regulation, Government officials believe they had effectually curbed the ravages of the white pine blister rust. The government has announced that it is now ready to relax quarantine regulations on blister rust to permit the shipment of white pine nursery stock from Pennsylvania to other infected states on State certification which is now prohibited and at the same time modify shipping regulations on currant and gooseberry plants on which the blister rust spends a part of its life cycle.

With the experience derived from other diseases such as chestnut blight and blister rust and such insect pests as the gypsy moth, and Japanese beetle. Government officials are contemplating swift action to prevent a possible destruction to valuable pine stands by imposing quarantines on areas infected with the new Woodgate rust.

Electric Company Sign Is Changed

Workmen have just completed the task of changing the wording of the well known sign which rests on the roof of the west side sub-station of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company, which was commenced some time ago.

According to one of the foremen at the plant the huge letters spelling, "Do It Electrically," were placed on the roof when the bulding was erected about nine years ago. Keeping up with modern methods, the sign now sparkles forth, "Cook Electrically."

Fisher Administration Making Plans To Push Work Of 1929 Legislature

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, July 2.—The Fisher administration is doing its part to expedite the work of the 1929 session of the legislature. When the lawmakers assemble early in January to begin their deliberations most of the desired departmental legislation will be drafted and ready for introduction.

Heads of administrative departments are now making a study of their needs and submitting tentative drafts to Governor Fisher. Instructions have been given by the governor to his department chiefs to have their legislation in the hands of the department of justice by November 1.

That date is two months in advance of the meeting of the legislature and will afford ample time for the attorney general and his deputies to have them prepared for introduction. This will permit most of the administration's bills to be introduced early in the session.

The legislative training of Governor Fisher, secured during his service in the state senate, will serve him in good stead as he goes over the desired drafts during the summer months. It is his intention to study the departmental requests handed him by his cabinet members before they are turned over for final drafting.

The budget bureau attached to the executive department is making its study of institutional needs for the 1929-31 biennium. Actual drafting of the bills to include amounts of appropriations probably will be deferred until after the November election to learn the outcome of the five proposed constitutional bond issue amendments.

Actual financial needs of the state cannot be definitely determined until after the bond issue amendments have either been approved or rejected. In the event they are passed provision must be made for sinking fund and interest charges on the $138,000,000 involved in the five issues.

If the electorate of the senate on November 6 rejects any or all of the bond issues the budget bureau then will be in a position to go ahead and have its bills drafted or at least make a tentative allocation of amounts to institutions and departments. As a rule the general appropriation bill and other measures making grants of state funds do not come in until later in the season. This permits fiscal authorities to make a more accurate estimate of revenue for the biennium which closes at the end of May in each odd-numbered year.

The legislative reference bureau also is doing its share of drafting legislation for early introduction. Many organizations and members have sent in drafts of bills to be prepared for presenting to the session. Once the November election is over and members know whether or not they are elected the work of the bureau will be considerably increased.

Mercer Farmers Ask Relief–From Rain

All Crops Depending On Sunshine For Growth Are Backward, Is Report

MERCER, Pa., July 2.—Mercer county farmers want relief says Farm Agent W. S. Hager today.

The prayer of their petition is not an equilization fee asked of the two old parties by their brothers of the great northwest. What the local farmers want is less rain and more sunshine or they say that town-folks will have to dig deep this winter to pay your food bills.

Never have the Mercer county farmers been as discouraged with their farms and avocation generally as this summer says Hagar, who is authority for the statement that weather conditions are militating greatly against crop production of this fall.

All crops that depend on sunshine for their maturing are so backward in their growth that unless warm weather arrives right away and we have a late summer there will be slim crops.

One way to make the time seem shorter between pay-days is to have the car installments due on the same days.

Reed May Be Floor Leader

Pennsylvania Senator Is Mentioned As Possible Successor To Curtis

OTHER NEWS NOTES OF NATIONAL CAPITAL

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2.—The name of Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, is being prominently mentioned as a successor to Senator Charles Curtis as the leader on the Republican side of the Senate. Senator Curtis has been Floor Leader for the Republicans since 1924 when he succeeded the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

Senator Reed has been very active on the Floor of the Senate during the past season of Congress as one of Senator Curtis' assistants. Many tasks of lining up the Republican members for important bills have been entrusted to Senator Reed and the members of the Senate have taken a keen delight in the Pennsylvanian's aggressive and outspoken manner. He has been active in debate, while Senator Curtis was seldom heard on the Floor except to make some motion. Senator Reed is also one of the best posted men in the Senate on the tariff law which is expected to be considered for amendment by the next Congress. In addition to Senator Reed's name those of Senator George Moses, of New Hampshire, and Senator James E. Watson of Indiana are heard mentioned as possible contenders for the position. Leadership is usually decided on the basis of seniority and both Watson and Moses have more extended service than Pennsylvania's member.

Over 18,000 veterans of the World War are undergoing treatment for disabilities due to their war service in hospitals, according to General Frank T. Hines, Director of the United States Veterans' Bureau. Within a few months the tenth anniversary of the close of the War will be celebrated. In addition to operating over fifty hospitals, the Veterans' Bureau is using every other government owned hospital and also has disabled veterans in 205 civilian hospitals. There are 25,727 veterans who are unable to take care of their own affairs under guardianship.

General Hines reports that over 1,000,000 of the 4,500,000 men who served in the American forces during the World War have applied for compensation or some meaure of relief and approximately half of the claims have been allowed. Approximately 2,500 disability claims are filed each month.

Increasing use of mechanical loading machinery of the bituminous coal mines is shown in the report of the Bureau of Mines of the Department of Commerce. Pennsylvania reported 855,578 tons loaded by mechanical devices.

Agricultural extension work in the various states costs the Federal government $8,600,000 annually, or an average of 7 cents for each person, according to Dr. C. W. Warburton, Director of Extension Work for the Department of Agriculture. In addition to the Federal appropriations, the matching of funds by the States and local agencies brings the average expenditure to approximately 17 cents for each person in the country and a total of about 75 cents for each person on the farms. Extension engineers are now studying means for the prevention of soil erosion which is threatening the fertility of large areas of farm lands.

Pennsylvania ranked fifth among the States in the value of exports of merchandise during 1927, according to the report of the Department of Commerce. Pennsylvania exports valued at $290,497,974 represented a decrease of $31,933,677 over 1926. New York state led with a total export of $769,766,896 while Michigan with its large automobile export trade showed the largest increase. Twenty states showed increased export trade for the year, with the total for the country being $4,758,721,078.

Residents in America remitted $206,000,000 to relatives in other nations in 1927, while the funds sent from this country to foreign nations almost equals the amount paid the United States government for interest on private and war debts, according to a report of the Department of Commerce.

The report shows that foreign investments made by Americans in 1927 totalled $1,976,000,000 while foreign individuals and governments repaid on loans and private capital accounts a total of $977,000,000. It is estimated that American tourists spent $617,000,000 abroad, while $43,000,000 in charitable contributions were made.

The Postal Savings System, which is termed by Third Assistant Postmaster General Robert S. Regar, of Pennsylvania, as a "refuge for the timid" has over 400,000 depositors wtih a total of over $160,000,000 on deposit. Mr. Regar states that since its inauguration there has been deposited with the Postal Savings System over $1,550,000,000 and that many new bank depositors have been obtained through savings through the Post Office Department.

Senator David A. Reed and Mrs. Reed sail on the Leviathan for a two month's visit abroad.

The first joint meeting of the summer of the Young People's Christian Union societies of the First, Second and Highland United Presbyterian churches of this city, was held in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening with a fair number of the members in attendance.

Dewayne Glenn of the Second church presided over the services, which was in the form of a patriotic gathering. After a brief discussion by the leader on the subject, "True Patriotism," Dr. T. J. McFate of the Highland church delivered a very inspiring talk on "A True Patriot."

Music for the program was furnished by Prof. C. G. Linder of this city and two capable assistants.

The next meeting of the union will occur on Sunday evening, July 8, at the Second U. P. church, County Line street. This service, a musicale, entitled "Sing Praises to the Lord" will be in charge of Frank Brenneman. The program will commence at 7:15 p. m.

Voting Machine Issue 13th On Ballot List

Friends Of Amendment Fail In Attempts To Shift It From "Jinx" Position

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 2.—Advocates of the proposed constitutional amendment providing for voting machines are not enthusiastic over the position on the November ballot of their favored amendment. It will appear thirteenth on the list of fourteen to be submitted to the voters on November 6.

Friends of the amendment have made several efforts to have State officials give it another position other than the supposed jinx place, thirteenth. Their requests, however, could not be granted. The fourteen proposed amendments will appear on the ballot in the order in which they passed the Legislature. Several of them have been waiting since the session of 1925, while others were passed at the last legislative session in 1927.

The State numbers the proposed amendments for place on the ballot as they emerge from the Legislature after passing two sessions. For that reason the one providing for the installation of voting machines will appear at No. 13.

Rural South Is Not For Governor Smith

Democratic Candidates Stand On Prohibition Stirs Up Mighty Opposition

HOUSTON, Texas, July 2.—The rural South is up in arms against Al Smith's personal moist platform, upon which he is running for the Presidency. This is the news that comes to Governor Dan Moody, who battled to the last ditch for a bone dry plank in the platform of the convention, which would pledge the candidate to the whole-hearted acceptance and advocacy of the principle of prohibition through Federal enforcement.

The same message is coming to Bishop Cannon, of the Methodist Church, whose acceptance of the compromise plank in the platform finally adopted left Moody without a follower in the Resolutions Committee, and cleared the way for Smith's declaration of his plan to set aside the Eighteenth Amendment.

Texas in general, and Houston in particular, is talking only of the Smith bombshell, which in the flashing of a telegraphic ultimatum, has reversed party principles throughout this region and overnight changed thousands of sincere Democrats to militant Republicans.

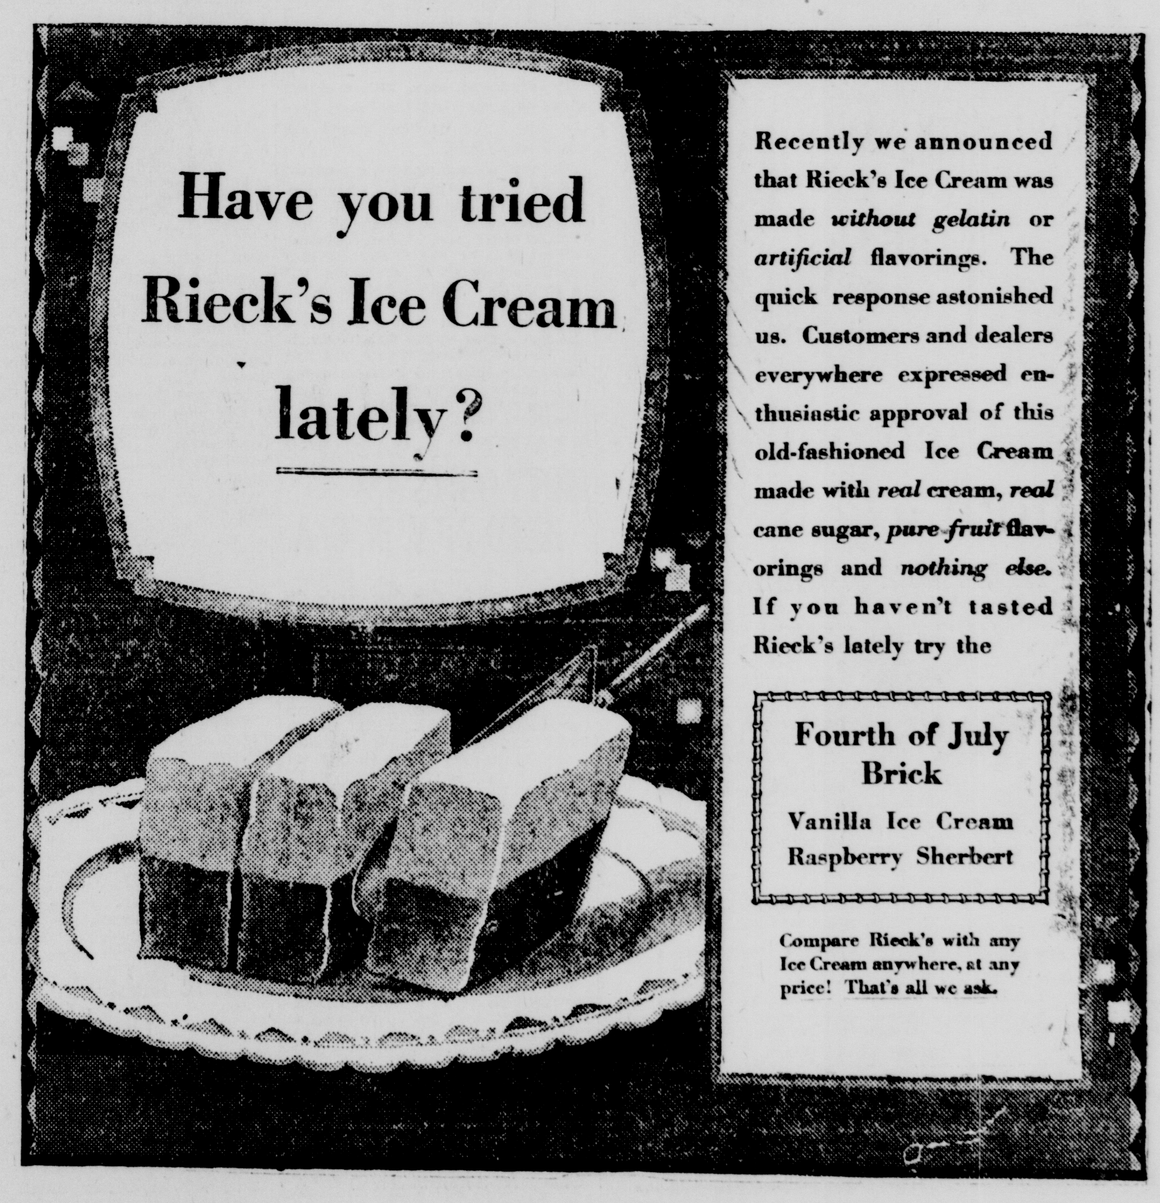
Two Commissioned As Lieutenants

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2.—David G. Jones, 451 Highland Avenue, Aliquippa, and Everett H. Laird, New Sheffield, have just been commissioned by the War Department as first lieutenants in the medical reserve of the army.



Recently we announced that Rieck's Ice Cream was made without gelatin or artificial flavorings. The quick response astonished us. Customers and dealers everywhere expressed enthusiastic approval of this old-fashioned Ice Cream made with real cream, real cane sugar, pure fruit flavorings and nothing else. If you haven't tasted Rieck's lately try the

Hoovers Adjust Themselves To Glare Of Public's Gaze

By ALEXANDER C. HERMAN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2.—With thousands of words already written about them, and millions more to come before election day, the Hoovers are gracefully adjusting themselves to the click-click of pitiless publicity.

It may be tough going. The members of the household realize it. But what can they do?

They are not publicity seekers. Rather would they be left alone in the quiet of their charming S street home. But cameras will click, pencils will scratch and reporters will buzz.

And in the clicking, and scratching and buzzing distortions will creep in.

For instance:

Legend has it (young legend) that Tut, police dog of the Hoover menage, gets his master's newspaper as it is delivered, and brings it to his room. He carries it there all right, but no longer is he allowed to get it from the delivery boys.

"Tut," explains Herbert Hoover, Jr., "began the trick by picking up the paper at the front door. Then he started picking it up at the walk. Impatient with that, he would catch it as the boys threw it from their bicycles. Finally, he began jumping at the boys, knocking them off their wheels.

"We knew nothing about this until one of the newspaper offices phoned about the high mortality of delivery boys on the route. Tut's activities were curtailed at once."

And a favorite story was spoiled a bit.

The dog is a classy animal, demanding formal introduction by one of the Hoovers before recognizing a visitor. His lack of recognition isn't registered passively. Fortunate for this reporter, young Hoover was at hand when Tut was being interviewed.

Tut was one of Hoover's first supporters. One day when the secretary wasn't feeling well, and remained in bed, the dog sensed that something was wrong, and stood guard over his master. He had to be locked up before he allowed even the doctor to come in.

Writers who stress the charm of the Hoover home are right. With its garden, quiet porch, trees, birds and little pond of gold fish, it is one of the most charming residences in all Washington. If the family moves on to the White House, it may not be gaining much in way of a home.

In a quiet corner of the first floor is Hoover's study. It is simple, warm, attractive without any ostentation.

Above his desk hang a couple of certificates—engineering society memberships. On his bookshelves are volumes of political science. On the walls are a few pictures of Lincoln, and a poem on fishing beginning, "A feller ain't thinking mean—Out fishing."

All bear mute evidence to the several sides of the man—the engineer, the statesman, the fisherman.

On top of a bookcase are two other silent tributes—one is a beautiful edition of Agricola's "De Re Metal lica" translated from the Latin by Mr. and Mrs. Hoover; and the other is a chest in which are lodged magnificent bits of handiwork—tributes from the Belgians. The most beautiful piece is done on the back of an American floursack.

The rest of the lower floor consists of reception, living rooms furnished with taste. A wide stairway leads to the upper floors. Along its walls hang diplomas and testimonials awarded the Hoovers.

"That's where we go upstairs by degrees," wise-cracked one of the sons.

But it is not only here that Hoover feels most at home. Out in California there's a Bohemian grove—some 3,300 acres of red woods and wilderness, where the secretary loves to go camping.

He's built an old-fashioned '49 miner's camp there in a blind canyon, off the beaten track. Together with Dr. Lyman Wilbur of Leland Stanford and other old friends, he loves to pitch in and live the hardy life of his engineering days.

He likes to swing a pick and shovel, flattening the rough spots, so that his friends can have a "circle" where they can sit, smoke and chat. There he takes a flat tin, and fries eggs better than any other camper. And the coffee he makes is renowned.

If the stress of the campaign keeps him from visiting the camp this summer, friends say it will be too bad. For in this outdoor play Hoover gets his greatest relaxation.

In his earlier days, when he was able to take active part in Boy Scout work, Hoover used to revel in building dams for the youngsters. Often, a side-kick tells me, he would wade into mud up to his waist just to build a dam and make a pond.

But Mrs. Hoover never caught him at it in Bohemian Grove. Women aren't allowed there.

One other side-light: Hoover now wears a double-breasted suit other than his famous blue one. He wears a gray one, too. And even tried wearing a dashing brown suit a few days this season.

When it gets warm he likes to wear white-striped flannels. And always during the summer he steps around in white canvas shoes.

But clothes, generally speaking, play little part in his life. There are more important things occupying his mind most of the time.

KANSAS CITY, July 2.—Forrest G. Thackaberry, private in the Air Corps Reserve, was killed Sunday afternoon when an army airplane in which he was flying as a passenger collided with another army plane.

Kentucky Kills Seven Slayers Friday, July 13

(International News Service)

FRANKFORT, Ken., July 2.—Friday, July 13th, may go down in Kentucky history as a dark and bloody day. Unless executive clemency intervenes seven men will die between sunrise and sunset that day in the electric chair at the Eddyville state penitentiary in expiation of their crimes.

Little hope is held forth that the Governor, Flem D. Sampson, will interfere with the carrying out of the death sentences for he has already signed the death warrants which instruct John B. Chilton, warden of Eddyville Penitentiary to electrocute the seven men.

The doomed men were responsible for the killing of nine persons.

Then men sentenced to die on July 13th are:

Milford Lawson convicted in the Whitley Circuit Court of killing John Stansberry.

Orlando Seymour convicted in Jefferson Circuit Court of slaying Will Schanenbacher in an attempted hold-up.

Hasue Dockery who in trying to see his estranged wife killed Mrs. Elizabeth Howerd, Joe Jenkins and Mrs. Jenkins, and who was convicted in Harrison Circuit Court of the murder of Mrs. Howard.

Charles P. Mitra convicted of killing Marion A. George, a Louisville merchant.

James Howard, negro, convicted of killing his common-law wife, Lucy Buckner, in Louisville.

Clarence McQueen, negro, who killed Louis Williams, another negro.

William Moore convicted in the Jefferson Circuit Court of killing Anna Eslick, Louisville negro woman.

How Piles Go Speedily

If you are worrying about the itching and burning and distress caused by piles don't give up hope until you do as Mr. Chas. E. Caswell of Albany did. Read his letter:

"Gentlemen—I have been suffering with a fistula for the past twenty years. During that time I have tried numerous remedies, all of which have failed.

"Two months ago I determined to give Peterson's Ointment a trial. The improvement was so decided after using one box, that I have continued, and on the completion of the fifth box, am now entirely cured.

"This is written with the view of passing along the good word to other sufferers." Very truly yours, Chas. E. Caswell.

For your own sake get a 35 cent box of Peterson's Ointment today and start to be free from misery tonight.

New York Pays Wilkins Tribute

Bestows Honors Upon Flier Who Made Trip Over North Pole

CITY HALL PARK IS SCENE OF CEREMONY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 2.—New York's highest honor to visiting notables today was bestowed upon Captain Sir George Hubert Wilkins, the Australian aviator and explorer who flew across the Arctic circle from Alaska to Spitzbergen last April, and his American pilot, Ben Eielson.

City Hall park was filled to overflowing with a crowd only slightly less numerous than those that welcomed Lindbergh, Byrd and the Bremen fliers when the polar fliers drove up to the city's executive headquarters to be received by Acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee.

The distinguished visitors were accompanied on their triumphant parade from the Battery by Sir Henry Armstrong, British consul general; Assistant Secretary of Commerce William F. MacCracken, in charge of the division of aeronautics; Dr. Isaiah Bowman, president of the American Geographical society, and a group from North Dakota, including Ole Fielson, father of the pilot, and Arthur Eielson, a brother.

In the aldermanic chambers Acting Mayor McKee delivered to the explorers the symbolic key to the city, and welcomed them home from their daring cruise. Both fliers spoke briefly, their addresses being broadcast over WNYC, the municipal radio station.

Speaks At Noon Hour Meeting Of Kiwanis Club At Elk's Home

Rev. J. Dudley Nee, one of the members of the New Castle Kiwanis Club, was the speaker at today's luncheon of the club, held in the Elks home.

Taking as his subject "The Fourth of July", Rev. Nee went back into the early history of the day, the struggle for freedom, the debate which centered upon the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the need today of the same kind of loyalty to the government as actuated the signers of the Declaration.

The address was a timely one, coming as it does in Independence Week and at the close he was given a vote of appreciation for his work.

Will Retain Guard At Louvain Library To Prevent Disorder

(International News Service)

LOUVAIN, Belgium, July 2.—Troops that were posted about the new Louvain library today will be on guard until after the dedication ceremonies on Wednesday to prevent disorders. The government feared a recurrence of the rioting over the wording of the inscription to be placed upon the facade of the new building. One faction, led by Architect Whitney Warren, wants the original inscription to stand; another faction, led by Monsignor Ladeuze, wants it changed. The original inscription, as approved by the late Cardinal Mercier, is: "Destroyed by German fury—restored by American generosity." Monsignor Ladeuze fears the words may revive wartime hatreds.

Obregon Elected Mexican President To Succeed Calles

(International News Service)

VERA CRUZ, July 2.—Returns today indicated that General Alvaro Obregon, who was elected to succeed President Calles yesterday in an uncontested poll, will have the backing of a favorable national assembly. The returns showed that the Socialists and Social Democrats, who are strongly behind Obregon, are running ahead in the races for both houses of the assembly. The election yesterday was unmarred by any serious outbreaks.

POLICE ACTIVE OVER WEEK-END

Quite A Number Of Arrests Are Made And The City Gets Some Money In

William Aho and Ed Peterson were arrested Sunday evening by Officers Thomas and McMullen and charged with being drunk. They were picked up in the south side district after being the cause of numerous calls. They put up forfeits of $10 each but failed to appear.

Mervil McIntosh, negro, crippled and claims to be an engraver, became drunk Saturday night on the public square and had to be arrested. Officer Lockard was threatened with injury by him through the medium of a file in his possession, but he was finally landed in the city jail. He agreed to leave town and was discharged this morning.

Ernie Brown and Wallace May, negroes, were engaged in a battle, when officers arrived at the Warner Row Sunday and both were arrested. It appears that May objected to the police dog of Brown chasing him all around and this resulted in the men doing battle. Brown was released on a $10 forfeit for which he did not return, while May paid a fine of $5 on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Walker McKay, negro, 1017½ Moravia street, was arrested last night as the keeper of a disorderly house by Officers Thomas and McMullen, when the officers found McKay, three colored men and a white man engaged in drinking some home brew beer. Twenty-six bottles of home brew were confiscated by the police. McKay was fined $15, while two of the visitors were released on $10 forfeits for which they did not return, one was released on a $5 fine, when he claimed he had just arrived at the place, while a fourth visitor is still in jail owing to his inability to secure $10 as a forfeit.

Frank Webster, Wilson avenue, it was charged declined to allow his wife to enter the family residence Sunday night and the result was that Officers Lockard and Richards answered a call to the place. When Officer Lockard entered the place with Mrs. Webster, Webster became quite abusive and was arrested and charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was assessed a fine of $25. Stanley Shasko, picked up on the same trip, put up a ten dollar forfeit for which he did not return. He was in a drunken condition.

Some day an automobile manufacturer will produce an automobile which will last until paid for.—The Durham Sun.

Arctic Silence Holds Amundsen, Gone Two Weeks

Roald Amundsen And Party Missing Two Weeks; Hundreds In Search Of North

BRITISH PLANES WILL AID HUNT

Norwegian Churches Offer Prayers Sunday For Safety Of Noted Explorer

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 2.—The ominous silence of the grim Arctic still holds the mystery of the disappearance of Capt. Roald Amundsen, noted explorer, who left Tromsoe, Norway, two weeks ago today in the French seaplane Latham accompanied by Major Rene Guilbaud, Lieut. Lief Dietrichsen, a mechanic and radio-operator.

Planes continue to scour the region about Bear Island, which lies half way between Tromsoe and Spitzbergen, but no trace of the Amundsen party has been reported as yet. The Latham was last seen flying about 60 miles northeast of the island by fishermen on the night of June 18.

Norwegian ice ships are searching the Arctic seas for traces of Amundsen. A special relief expedition financed by popular subscription is now enroute northward.

British Planes Ready

Great Britain may join the search for the missing explorer, according to the Oslo correspondent of the Daily Mail. According to this correspondent, the Amundsen relief committee asked the British legation at Oslo whether British planes were available for the search. The legation officials communicated with officials here and were informed two planes could be had.

There is much foreboding in Norway over Amundsen's continued absence. Many of the relief workers at Oslo and Tromsoe, experts in the task of combatting Arctic conditions, have expressed the belief that Amundsen must certainly be lost or he would have found means of communicating with them by now. Prayers for the missing men were offered in all the churches of Norway yesterday.

Program By Pupils Of Daily Bible Vacation School

Scholars of the Daily Vacation Bible School of the Bethany Lutheran church gave a demonstration of the work accomplished during the two weeks the school was in session Sunday evening before a large and appreciative audience.

Dramatization of Bible stories, scripture verses, books of the Bible and songs were outstanding features of the evening. The program ended with a beautiful pageant entitled "The Baby Moses".

The children who attended the Daily Bible school were very much interested in the work and would like to have had the school continue for another week. The enrollment of the school was 67 with an average attendance of about 50.

Deep Dish Apple Pie

What Roosevelt Family Discussed At The Luncheon Table

Mrs. Richard Derby, left and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, II.

By IDAH McGLONE GIBSON
Specially Written for Central Press and New Castle News

One of the most delightful luncheons it has been my good fortune to attend was at the home of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, N. Y.

Arriving a short time before the luncheon was served, Mrs. Roosevelt showed me through the trophy room, which just had been finished. There we were joined by Ethel Roosevelt, the dark-eyed only daughter of Theodore Roosevelt's second wife. Miss Roosevelt, shortly after I met her, became Mrs. Richard Derby.

As we walked through the rooms of the mansion we talked of—baseball!

When I remarked that the rain, which was falling, would spoil my afternoon at the Polo Grounds, Ethel asked quickly: "Do you know any baseball stars?"

Admired Ty Cobb

"Yes, I know John McGraw, Walter Johnson, Grover Alexander and Christy Mathewson," I was beginning to enumerate a few more when she interrupted: "Do you know Ty Cobb? I have always been curious about him. He seems to me to be a superior man as well as superior baseball player."

Just then the colored butler announced: Luncheon is served," and we filed into the dining room, where we were joined by Mrs. Teddy, Jr., who had been commissioned a few days before to search for some plates in New York "suitable to serve deep dish apple pie," to a family that liked lots of cream.

She evidently was successful, for we each were served with a piece of delectable pie and handed great pitchers of cream from which to take as much as we wanted without the embarrassment of "saying when."

Mrs. Roosevelt's Sympathy

It was shortly after the Lusitania disaster, and the talk veered from baseball and apple pie to the death of Captain Archie Butt, who was military aide to the president. Mrs. Roosevelt paid him a beautiful tribute when she said: "I am afraid we did not appreciate him as we should. His fondness for society and dancing made many overlook his splendid sterling character. I have grieved so deeply for his mother, to whom he was devoted. Her loss must seem irreconcilable to her."

And so the talk continued as we sat in the beautifully appointed dining room, while the rain continued to come down in torrents. Death, sports and food were discussed around the Roosevelt table, just as they are at every other table in the land.

It was still raining when I had to leave and, although there seemed to be numerous servants about the house—I counted three in the dining room, during luncheon—Mrs. Roosevelt said: "Ethel, go upstairs and get Mrs. Gibson's coat. She will have to hurry if she makes that train."

When her daughter came back with the wrap, without the slightest self-consciousness my hostess helped me on with it, and stood on the steps of the colonial portico to wave me a smiling good-bye.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Being nothing much in the way of an astonomer, the facts and figures of these sky searching gentlemen do not mean as much as they should perhaps. I accept without argument their statements concerning the movements of the planets and the distance of the sun, but it seems to me the moon has been scandalized.

The statement that it is 93,000,000,000 miles away from the earth we will let pass. Nobody ever made the trip and I'm not going to argue for a million miles or so.

But when they tell us that the moon is dead, that there is no living matter on it, then it seems to me that the Man in the Moon is getting a pushing around.

After sitting out in the full glare of the moonlight, Sunday night, (with a group of people you understand) it seemed to me that nothing that was dead could reflect such an effulgence. It was a beautiful sight and despite my astronomical friend's engine number of the moon, its a great institution.

Rev. McConnell has left us. For the past year or so Rev. Ralph McConnell has been on the staff of The News and the morals of some of the reportorial staff have improved. With Mac accepting a pastorate at Windy Gap, Pa., and with the summer not yet over, some one will have to take over the duties. And in the meantime the colyum wishes Mac plenty of luck in his new charge.

For a minute or so this morning some of the boys back in the composing room thought C. C. Pyle had stopped in. Back at McCarter's shop in the alley back of The News, a car was parked, marked Pyle's L. A. to N. Y. race. Official car. Right away somebody conceived the idea that old Cash and Carry himself was in. The car belongs to a chap named Swensen from Oxford, Ill., who was a runner in the race and had his car in. Swensens says that Pyle and Red Grange dropped $250,000.00 on the race which proves something or other.

'Jever try a speed boat? For a thrill it has a plane beaten. Doing fifty miles an hour on a lake, in a shell of a boat is considerable of a thrill and when the pilot makes a sharp turn, hold everything. And when you happen to hit some cross waves, its much like hitting a bumpy dirt road at the same speed.

The Society Editoress just checked in with the announcement that Wednesday is the Fourth of July. A look at the calendar verifies the statement, and so if there is no objection the glorious Fourth will be observed this week.

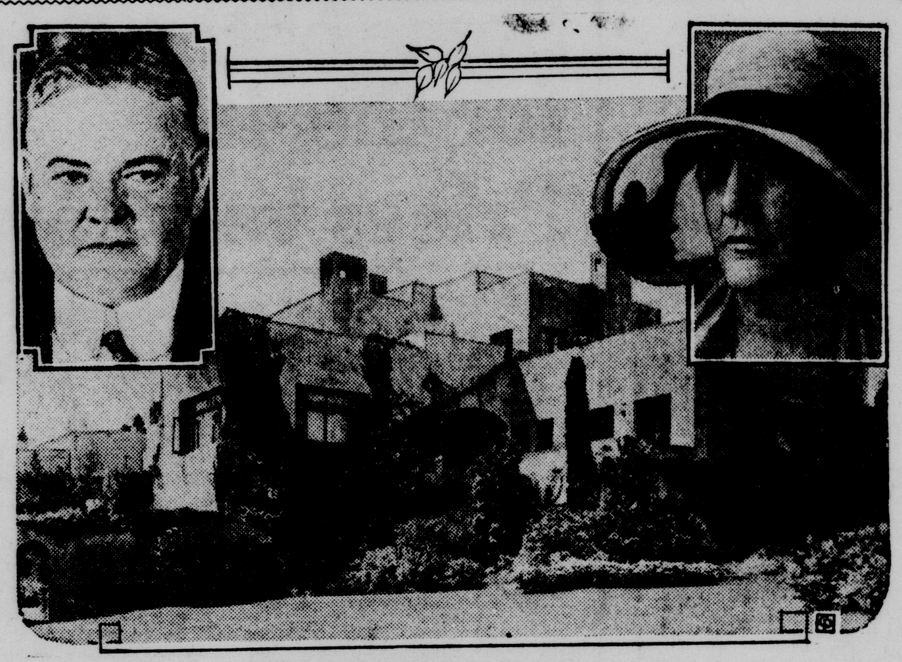
Hoover's Town Enthusiastic

"Knew Him When" Stories Serve To Heighten Admiration For Republican Presidential Candidate In Home City



The Hoover Home at Palo Alto, Cal., With Insert, Secretary and Mrs. Hoover.

By J. R. BROKENSHIRE
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 2.—Hoover sentiment may be strong elsewhere, but nowhere as strong as here in Palo Alto, Herbert Hoover's "home town," and seat of Leland Stanford university through which young Herbert worked his way in the 90's.

They "knew him when" here, and they know him now. And they're all for him, the home-town boy who has become the Republican presidential nominee.

Some Intimates

There's his brother, two years Herbert Hoover's senior, Prof. Theodore Hoover, head of the College of Engineering of Stanford university. And his only surviving aunt, Mrs. Ann Minthorne Heald, 85, who kept her ear to the radio transmitter throughout the Kansas City convention. She it was who named him Herbert, and she has no greater delight than chatting with her neighbors concerning Herbert's boyhood.

And there are others. The venerable Dr. David Starr Jordan chancellor emeritus of Stanford university, from whom Hoover received his degree, for example, or Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford's president, and a classmate of Hoover, and Jasper W. Paulsen, who drove a horse bus, or "hack" as it was called then, between the Palo Alto railway station and the university when Herbert Hoover was a student there. Paulsen remembers Hoover particularly as the manager of the football team, for it was Hoover who brought the team out of debt, $1,600 of which was owed to Paulsen.

Paulsen recalls with delight that Hoover had to borrow "six bits" to get to Palo Alto from San Francisco. "He had only 25 cents when he boarded the train," Paulsen says. "The fare was $1. But John H. Means, then a consulting engineer, now retired, came to his rescue, and Hoover didn't have to walk!"

A Good Business Man

He recalls Hoover most vividly as a good busines man. And he was reason to. For Paulsen used to carry the football team over to Woodside in his hack for secret practice. Football didn't draw the crowds then it does now. So it was not long before the team owed Paulsen a $1,600 cab bill.

"Then Hoover became manager of the team," Paulsen relates. "The games were held at the time in an open field in front of Encina hall, the men's dormitory where Hoover lived. The admittance was 25 cents, but there was no fence, and it was seldom collected.

"The first thing Hoover did was to build a fence around the football field. In less than a year the team was out of debt, and I had all that was owed me!"

City officials of Palto Alto also feel keenly the honor their fellow townsman has brought to Palo Alto. Mayor A. C. Hobard has already started a movement for landscaping the roadway which leads to Hoover's home. Hoover will spend much of his time between now and the election at Palo Alto, Mayor Hobard points out, and wants the many who will visit him here to know that Palo Alto is prepared to accord him proper honor.

Pittsburghers To Continue Dancing For New Records

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 2—Pittsburghers started this marathon dance business and Pittsburghers are going to end it. This is the sentiment of the seven marathoners at Duquesne Gardens who shoved past 440 hours today.

Although the New York marathoners are some 40 hours ahead of them, the local contestants are determined to uphold civic honors as far as marathons go.

The dancers spent Sunday on the Monongahela river. Nineteen couples danced away over Sunday in a private home in Homestead. Shortly before noon they had put nearly 135 hours into the past.

Another marathon started on a grind at midnight at McKeesport. Twenty-four couples were entered.

Hackensack Man Strangles Wife

(International News Service)

HACKENSACK, N. J., July 2.—William Ballardo, 27, who walked into police headquarters here and announced he had strangled his 18-year-old wife because she was "always asking for money and always wanted to go to the movies," was to be arraigned later today on a charge of manslaughter.

Tilden Beats Boratra In English Tourney

(International News Service)

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2.—After a gruelling contest William ("Big Bill") Tilden, America's last representative in the men's singles in the British lawn tennis championship tournament, defeated Jean Borotra of France, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, this afternoon.

Make Reports Of Rotary Convention

President Rugh Also Makes An Inaugural Speech At Noon

Two reports of the convention of Rotary International, given by Rex Patch and Frank Burton, together with the inaugural address of Welty O. Rugh as president of the New Castle club were the features of the regular Monday meeting of the New Castle club, which took place at noon today in the Crystal ball room of The Castleton.

"Rotary is a philosophy which attempts to reconcile the desire to profit and the urge to serve others," Mr. Rugh stated. "But we cannot give the past record of the New Castle club as the excuse for its presnt existance. We must be alive. All members must put their shoulders to the wheel. For the present administration, I solicit your wholehearted support."

At this time the appointment of DeLace Cole as sergeant at arms and the Rev. Samuel Irvine and the Rev. Fr. F. S. Clifford as chaplains were announced.

In commenting on the convention of the international body, Rex Patch stated that the thing which impressed him most was the spirit of fellowship. He also declared that next year's international convention would take place at Dallas, Texas.

Frank Burton, the official delegate from the New Castle club was impressed most by the size and unity of the convention, he declared. Over 10,000 people attended some of the sessions, representing 44 different countries. He also found a marked seriousness mixed with good fellowship and the emphasis placed on the individual Rotarian instead of on a club. One of the features of the convention, as seen through the eyes of Mr. Burton, was the feeling of international good will that it fostered.

Before the meeting, and directly afterwards, Buglers George Macom and Archie McClintock from Troop 15 played. Sidney Smith, scoutmaster of Troop 15 was also present.

William Offutt announced a meeting of all people interested in developing a municipal golf course Thursday evening, July 5, at 8:30 in the New Castle Y. M. C. A.

Silent Double Wedding Takes Place In Church

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 2. — What is believed to be the first silent double wedding of its kind was celebrated in St. John's Lutheran church here over the week-end when four deaf mutes were married by Rev. G. H. Bechtold assisted by Edward F. Karcher, a deaf and dumb student of Mt. Airy Seminary.

The couples were: Harrison Litzenberger, of Cetronia and Margaret Sterne, of Pennburg and William Bahl and Theresa Fullman, both of Emanus.

MANY PARTY BOLTERS LOOM FOR ELECTION

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, July 2.—About the best thing it is possible to say of the Democratic convention in Houston is that it wasn't quite as big a bore as the Republican convention in Kansas City.

There wasn't an interesting incident at Kansas City. There were a few high spots at Houston. For the most part, the proceedings were deadly dull.

Either the political conventions of yore, which to read about were so exciting, have been vastly over-rated, or that kind of thing has degenerated sadly in our times. Probably it has degenerated.

There's too much mechanics about a convention now. The whole affair must be planned to suit the convenience of broadcasters, cinematographers and other folk who must have the program pulled off just thus and so or their appartuses of various sorts won't work.

An orator can't bounce around the platform and tear his hair and stamp and gesticulate at the same time he's talking into a "Mike". And if he can't do all these thongs, he can's get up steam.

Too Cold Blooded.

It's all too cold blooded—nothing spontaneous, nothing real, all acting. Even the applause is manufactured for the radio.

And, of course, both parties are split both ways so that both have to straddle on every issue until neither platform means anything. If half of the Democratic party would join half of the Republicans, each new group might be able to formulate a set of principles that there'd be some kick in. As it is, cut out the bunk and abuse on each side, and the two outfits could swap declaratons of what they stand for and no harm would be done.

Bob LaFollette made a speech at Kansas City that contained some meat, and Claude Bowers made one at Houston that did. Those were the only two.

Between the pair, Bowers' was the better speech, as a speech, but LaFollette's rang truer, for Bob said all he had to say and Bowers put the damper on a number of thing we all know he thinks. If he hadn't he'd have torn the Houston convention wide open. He has pretty good nerve, but not that much. Bob's absolutely reckless—a destroyer, so far as old-line Republicanism is concerned. Claude still hopes to harmonize.

Candidates Are the Difference.

To be sure, there are candidates for the voters to choose between this campaign, though the difference in the platforms amounts to nothing. It is no secret that nobody expects Al Smith to stand in any sense literally on the platform he was nominated on. In fact, it was plainly stated in the convention that he is a platform in himself. However, his party had to resort to camouflage or it couldn't have nominated him at all.

Due to the genuine difference in the candidates there'll be bolts on both sides in November—not organized bolts, but bolts of many voters on both sides. Warning of it was given here by a big delegation of drys, just as warning of it was given at Kansas City by a big delegation of farmers. On which side such losses will be heaviest remains to be seen. It is impossible to guess as yet, but it's enough to confuse the result and it may lead to a realignment, which would be a blessed thing.

Shortage of country doctors is held to make life so hazardous that most of the farm population will have to leave the farm. This may be another way of handling the surplus.—The St. Paul Dispatch.

Communicating With Mars

By S. S. MYERS

What a wonderful thing is the imagination! We are told now that there is a possibility of communicating with Mars by radio and some one has gone so far as intimate that the wonderful new art of television will eventually be used for that purpose which will enable us not only to communicate with the other worlds but to set the inhabitants and their surroundings.

To be sure there is nothing to hinder electric waves from passing through space from one planet to another and there are only two or three obstacles to overcome in making the dream a reality. In the first place so far as Mars is concerned there must be somebody there to receive our message and send messages to us. Also there must be sending and receiving apparatus on Mars in attune with ours or ours must be made in attune with theirs. Just how to overcome this difficulty I shall not attempt to point out.

We will leave it to the scientists Perhaps the Martians have been signalling to us for centuries and we haven't sense enongh to know it or to invent an apparatus that will receive their signals.

Then again the Martians may have a mode of expression entirely different from ours and may not be able to understand or interpret our signals or we theirs. So a mutual agreement of some mode of thought expression would have to be agreed upon between the two planets. This would doubtless require considerable interplanetary negotiations and so far as this writer is concerned he wouldn't know what steps to take to bring that about. We will have to leave that to the scientists also.

Of course there is one mode of expression that might be called into service and that is music. It is said to be a universal language.

But if we should succeed in broadcasting some of our jazz music over to the Martians the result might be disastrous. By degrees we have become hardened to it but to spring it suddenly upon the unsuspecting people of Mars there is no telling what might happen. They might retaliate by sending back some dreadful thing that would work havoc on the earth. There is no telling what those Martions may have up their sleeves. At any rate we should avoid getting into a controversy with them.

But if television can be established between the Earth and Mars it will bring about a wonderful revolution in star gazing and put telescopes out of business. We would be able to see the Martians face to face and determine whether they are the giants they are reported to be by some scientists or pigmies as others claim. We could also see something of their surroundings and their daily, public and private life while they would have the same advantage with us. But under such conditions there would be no privacy between the two planets and that again might lead to serious trouble.

Ah, well, one may let his imagination wander far afield as long as he does not permit it to drag him too far away from the beaten path of common sense.

Pageant Depicts Famous Battle With Indians In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., July 2.—Thousands of persons from various sections of the Wyoming valley were here today for the presentation of the pageant of the battle of Wyoming in connection with the celebration commemorating the 150th anniversary of the historic fight between settlers and Indians.

Two tribes of Indians, the Miamis and Senecas, have sent representatives to take part in the celebration. The Miamis came from an Indian reservation, while the Senecas came from their reservation in western New York state.

Heading the Miami tribe is Chief James Clarence Godfrey, a great-great-grandson of Frances Slocum, who was stolen from her home by Indians and later married a chief of the Miami tribe. She was finally located in Indiana, but despite the entreaties of relatives she refused to return to her home here.

Chief Godfrey will participate in the pageant depicting the abduction of the little girl. Claire Bennett, 11, a direct descendant of Frances Slocum, will take the part of her ancestor when the abduction is re-enacted.

Another feature of the pageant will be the re-enactment of the scenes of the Wyoming massacre in which almost 100 white settlers lost their lives. A duplicate of the old fort has been built at Forty Fort, which was the headquarters of the settlers in this region.

On Independence Day a huge parade will be held with the two tribes of Indians, the 109th Field Artillery and thousands of persons participating. The feature of the parade will be the historical depiction of the growth and development of Wyoming valley from its earliest days to the present time, by means of floats and thousands of marchers.

Many high government and state officials are expected to attend the celebration, which will close the night of July 4. Among those who are expected to arrive here are United States Senators Reed of Pennsylvania, Bingham of Connecticut, Wagner of New York, Auditor General Edward Martin and several congressmen, including John J. Casey of the local district.

Ice-Breaker Ship Hopes To Reach Marooned Fliers

Ice-Breaker Krassin Most Powerful In World Hopes To Reach Nobile Crew

(International News Service)

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, July 2.—The Norwegian relief ship Fram wirelessed that the Russian ice-breaker Krassin has reached the Hinlopen strait and expects to get within sight of the marooned members of the Nobile expedition today.

Great faith is held here in the chances of the huge breaker's reaching the men. The Krassin is one of the most powerful craft of its kind in the world and is the only one of the relief ships conceded to have a chance to conquer the ice-floes and rescue the marooner party of six. Five members of the lost Italia's crew and the Swedish aviator Lundborg, who rescued General Nobile, comprise the marooned party.

Continued heavy fogs forced two of the Italian rescue planes to turn back on their last attempt to reach the marooned men, now drifting precariously on an ice-floe which may break up at any time. If the weather permits, a light plane equipped with skils will attempt to alight on the ice where the men have their encampment today.

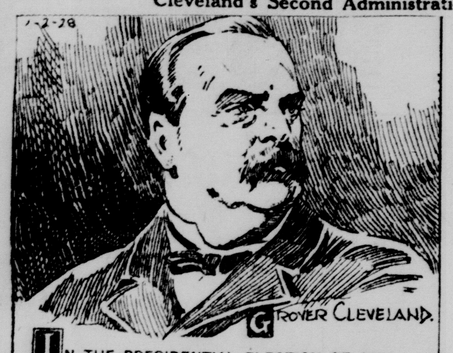
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

Cleveland's Second Administration



IN THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION OF 1892, GROVER CLEVELAND WAS AGAIN OPPOSED TO BENJAMIN HARRISON. THIS TIME CLEVELAND WON AND CAME BACK TO THE PRESIDENCY WITH HIS PARTY IN CONTROL OF BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS. FOR THE FIRST TIME IN OUR HISTORY A PRESIDENT BECAME THE SUCCESSOR OF THE MAN WHO HAD SUCCEEDED HIM.

THE YEAR 1892 WAS THE FOUR HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA BY COLUMBUS. THE NEXT SPRING (1893) THE WORLD'S FAIR, A GREAT EXPOSITION COMMEMORATING THAT EVENT, WAS OPENED IN CHICAGO. THE WORLD'S FAIR COST ABOUT $35,000,000 AND ATTRACTED MORE THAN 20,000,000 VISITORS.

ANOTHER GREAT EXPOSITION HELD WHILE CLEVELAND WAS PRESIDENT WAS THE COTTON STATES AND INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION AT ATLANTA IN THE FALL OF 1895. IT ILLUSTRATED THE REMARKABLE PROGRESS MADE BY THE "NEW SOUTH" SINCE THE CIVIL WAR.

THE YEARS SINCE THAT GREAT STRUGGLE HAD SEEN THE RECOVERY AND GROWTH OF THE COTTON INDUSTRY. UNDER FREE LABOR. BETWEEN 1880 AND 1890 THE WEALTH OF THE SOUTH HAD INCREASED FOUR BILLION DOLLARS. MILLS AND FACTORIES HAD SPRUNG UP, AND THE SOUTH, ONCE A PURELY AGRICULTURAL REGION, WAS NO LONGER ENTIRELY DEPENDENT ON THE NORTH FOR MANUFACTURED ARTICLES.

VERDI TO FIGHT STOY AT JOLLY BOWL

Rio To Battle Billy Wallace

Promoter Jolly Expects To Pack Bowl Here Next Monday Night

SEEKING OPPONENT FOR ROMEO PACELLI

By ED. FRITZ

It looks very much as though the Jolly bowl will overflow with humanity one week from tonight when Rosey Stoy and Phil Verdi, two of the best featherweights in the country clash in the 10 round feature of a fistic show that will consist of five bouts.

And as Frankie Rio, Cleveland junior lightweight clashes with Billy Wallace, Youngstown, who floored him several times at Akron have been mated for the semi-final the assertion that "none but the stars can shine at the bowl" seems to be true.

It is doubtfull if Promoter Bill Jolly could have arranged a better match for his bowl as Stoy and Verdi have appeared in this city and are favorites. Stoy defeated Mog Pugh when he was going good and Verdi when a youngster battled Eddie Weygant here.

Stoy, a dutchman from Lancaster, Pa., has fought every topnotcher in the business, if boxing can be called such as it really is. He has battled Bud Taylor, Carl Tremaine and Harry Blittman refuses to meet him. Recently he fought a great fight with Eddie Shea.

Several Knockdowns

The bout with Shea was replete with knockdowns. Both were on the floor and according to the International News Service correspondent "it was a bristling fight". Any time a correspondent writes thusly fans can feel sure that it was a real battle.

Verdi has boxed Carl Tremaine. Chick Suggs who recently battled Johnny Datto and has defeated most of the featherweights in the game. He is not one iota afraid of this Dutchman called the "Blonde Assassin" and when he steps forth the boys will see a great Italian fighter.

All of the sporting editors who have seen him go, speak highly and having handled Eddie Weygant against him at Centennial field, the writer knows that Verdi can fight, otherwise he would have asked Bill Jolly to go slow. But Verdi can fight. That settles that.

Both Liked Here

Stoy is a favorite here. Of this there is no question. He got his start here when Joe Cumo was promoting shows. Sam Haycock told the writer about Stoy and the writer succeeded in having Cumo match him with Pugh. That was the beginning of the end for Mog.

Verdi can step and hit. He is as fast as Stoy and according to press accounts of his performances he will go over big. Al Cassidy, New Bedford, Mass. Times, Paul Schrader, Rochester Times-Union, Martin La Chance, Syracuse Journal and Jim Jab, Press, are only a few of his boosters.

While he has fought everybody in his division the most prominent boys he has milled with are Bushy Graham, Bobby Garcia, Eddie Shea, Danny Kramer and others who have made life unbearable for the furtherups in the division.

Fans 'het up'

While the boys are talking of this match they should not forget that clever, hard-hitting Frankie Rio is up against a stiff proposition in Billy Wallace of Youngstown. It would not be surprising were this bout to end in a knockout.

Louie Severio the fast Meadville 130 pounder has refused to box Romeo Pacelli and Bill Jolly is trying to line up a good opponent for Romeo. He is also figuring on two other matches and on account of the cleverness of all the boys a big throng of women are expected to attend.

UMPIRES ASKED TO ATTEND MEETING

The following umpires are asked to attend the New Castle church league meeting scheduled for the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 o'clock on Thursday evening, July 5: Emery, Burnham, Bagshaw, Williams, Fraizer and Montgomery.

How times have changed. Bandits raid the office of a Detroit newspaper and scoop up $65,000. Evidently the bulk of the day's receipts had already been deposited.—The Los Angeles Evening Express.

In yesterday's game McCullough handled eight assists at third base without an error and he smashed out three hits.

On July 4 New Castle will play a double header, meeting Canton in the morning and Akron in the afternoon.

New Castle fans who bought booster tickets will be able to use them next Saturday afternoon.

Columbia Crew To Try Olympic Test

(International News Service)

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 2. — Columbia's varsity crew, aspiring to represent the United States in the Olympic games at Amsterdam next month, leaves the Hudson this morning for Philadelphia and the scene of the Olympic tryout regatta on the Schuylkill river.

In the final practice on the Hudson the crew had its best day since the intercollegiate race. Apparently it has come out of its slump in good style.

Comes Smiling Through — By Feg Murray

"You can't keep a good man down," and Johnny Farrell, golf professional at the Quaker Ridge Club in New York, who has been a good man for several years, crashed through at last and won that most coveted of all golf titles, the United States open championship. After seven lean years, in which he seemed to be able to win every golf championship in the land but the United States open, Johnny finally came marching home with his heart's desire.

Known for some time as one of the greatest shot-makers in the game, and also as its best-dressed golfer, Farrell had been accused of lacking heart and fighting spirit, and now he has silenced his critics by the manner in which he beat Jones, Hagen, Von Elm, and all the other big guns on the difficult number four course at Olympia Fields. Johnny's opening round of 77 was rather discouraging, but gave him everything to gain and nothing to lose, so he threw caution to the winds and gambled for birdies—and got plenty of them. He showed he was game by the manner in which he came from behind to win.

His last four rounds of 71 72, 70, and 73 (this includes the play-off) gave him a 286 which compares most favorably with the record of 285 with which Jones won the 1927 British open. The real tip-off on Johnny Farrell was his 63 in the final round of the La Gorce tournament at Miami last winter, and his seven consecutive victories in minor open championships in 1927.

"You can't keep a good man down"—especially if that man is a fighting Irishman like Johnny Farrell!

Gilliland Wins In Saturday Sweepstake

Excellent Scores Are Made By Small Field Of Players At Field Club

Excellent scores featured the week-end sweepstake event at the golf course of the New Castle Field club Saturday. Cards-Pirates Divide Games

Fussell Pitches Pirates To Victory In First Game; Cards Annex Second Tilt

GEORGE GRANTHAM TIMELY SLUGGER

SPORTSMAN PARK, ST. LOUIS, July 2.—The Pittsburgh Pirates wound up their five-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals here yesterday afternoon by copping the first game of a double bill 2 to 0 and losing the second tilt 8 to 6.

Fred Fussell the Pirate southpaw held the Cards safe in the first game by allowing them ten hits but keeping them scattered. Haines opposed Fussell in the first game. The hitting of George Grantham in both games was a feature.

Johnson and Haid held the Pirates in check in the nightcap and the Cards pulled through with an 8 to 6 win. The Pirates used Miljus, Kremer and Burwell in the second game.

OLD CANDIDATE POPS UP AGAIN

Brooklyn's Candidate.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

With his erstwhile calm and subdued Robins kicking up their heels and acting more like Eagles and Hawks in the battle for the National league pennant it looks as though Uncle Wilbert might, after all be elected.

If he is—and why not?—Robbie will be just running to true form.

In 1916—a presidential year—Robinson won his first National league pennant for Brooklyn.

The Dodgers came from nowhere and landed on top. They were the surprise of the circuit just as they would be if they won the gonfalon this season.

After the 1916 success Uncle Wilbert and his fractious birds lay low for three seasons and then in the heat of the 1920 presidential campaign they came through again.

Following 1920 came three lean years and then Robbie made his third pennant bid in 1924—a presidential year. And he came within an ace of success.

That year Robbie drove his Robins as far up as second place but the Giants were having their last glorious fling at pennant winning and managed to nose Brooklyn out for the flag.

Disappointed but not disillusioned Robinson and his crew fell back and did not figure in the running until this year.

But now Robbie has his gang under full steam and his pitchers leading the way. In past Brooklyn successes the pitchers have always led the way. So—who knows?—perhaps after all, history will repeat itself and Wilbert Robinson president-manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers may become the 1928 president of the National league pennant winners.

Buckeye Girls Defeat Lehigh

The Buckeye girls baseball team defeated the Lehigh Cement team 9 to 7 in a game played on Saturday afternoon, at the Buckeye field. The game was a part of the celebration at the Lehigh Cement plant.

Aileen Neiper on the knoll for the Buckeye girls pitched a fine game holding the Lehigh men to seven hits, and fanned five batters. The Buckeye girls played a most flawless ball in the field. P. Graham led the attack for the Buckeyes with three hits and scored two runs. McCummins was the best hitter for the Lehigh team.

Being unable to schedule games with girl teams, the Buckeye girls are going to take up the road to play men teams. The Buckeyes go to Monaca in two weeks to play the Colonial Steel team, and will also make a tour of the Beaver Valley and will engage in exhibition games. Five games will be played entour.

League Directors To Meet Tuesday

There will be a special meeting of the board of directors of the New Castle Church league at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night July 3. The meeting is called for 8:30 o'clock.

All directors are asked to attend this session as there is considerable business to be transacted at this meeting and of vital interest to the welfare of the Church loop.

Yankees Have Healthy Lead

Yanks Take Two More Games From Athletics And Lead By 13 1-2 Games

BOSTON BRAVES BREAK STREAK

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 2.—As the baseball season approaches the half-way mark, it becomes evident that nothing short of a train wreck or a miracle can keep the New York Yankees from winning their third straight American league pennant. They have captured thirteen out of eighteen contests with the Athletics and are 13½ games in front of those disillunioned gentlemen.

With Henry Johnson and Hoyt pitching the Yanks walloped the A's twice yesterday, 12 to 6 and 8 to 4. Sixty thousand fans saw the double bill, providing Col. Jake Ruppert with a most convincing reason as to why he should not break up his great machine for the good of the other magnates' gate receipts.

Gehrig Hits Two

Tony Lazzeri had a batting orgy with seven hits in eight times at bat. In the nightcap the wonderful wop twice "gave the ball a poosh" out of the lot. In the opener old Joe Bush, a world series hero 'way back in 1912, was kayoed by his former mates. Buster Gehrig clouted his 17th and 18th homers.

The Boston Braves, who had lost their six games with Brooklyn and who had been beaten in their last seven starts, enabled pitcher Kent Greenfield to win his first game of the year by out-slugging the Dodgers, 8 to 7. Gink Hendrick, at third base for Brooklyn, dreamed that he was back at his old post in the Dodger outfield and cut loose with a long-distance heave that let in Boston's last two runs.

The return of George Grantham has helped the Pirates. The slugging first sacker has clouted eight hits in his last ten times at bat. He got six hits yesterday when the Bucs split a twin bill with the Cardinals. Fussell, a rookie, blanked the Cards in the opener, 2 to 0. In the nightcap, which the Cards won by an 8 to 6 score, Jim Bottomley tied Hack Wilson for National league home run honors by hitting his sixteenth four-bagger of the season.

Reds in Third Place

Cincinnati slid past Chicago and Brooklyn into third place when Ep Rixey beat the cubs 4 to 1.

Slim Harriss and Ed Morris pitched the Red Sox to two victories over the Senators, 2 to 1 and 7 to 1. Buddy Myer, ex-Washingtonian, hit a double and triple in the opener which failed to do any damage, but finally walloped a homer which settled the business.

Although 23 hits were made in the Detroit-St. Louis game, none was for extra bases. Seven hits in the eighth resulting in five runs, gave the Tigers a 7 to 4 edge.

A homer by George Burns gave Cleveland a 5 to 2 decision over the White Sox.

Expect Tunney And Heeney Fight Will Draw Large Crowd

By SID MERCER
International News Service Special Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 2.—Three weeks from next Thursday night Tom Heeney will come to the end of his trail of heavyweight conquest when he climbs into the ring with Gene Tunney at the Yankee Stadium.

It is the first heavyweight championship fight in seven years that has not been preceded by a mighty clashing of ballyhood cymbals for a month or six weeks.

Promoter Rickard, however, sticks to his prediction that Tunney and Heeney will draw at least $1,500,000 and supports this contention by a statement that he has already banked $250,000 that accompanied orders for ringside seats.

This, he points out, indicates a ringside sale of at least $600,000.

Start Intensive Training.

The public sale opened today at Madison Square Garden with more than 80,000 tickets available at prices ranging from $4.99 to $32 with federal tax added. More than 88,000 tickets have been printed.

Champion and challenger will plunge into training earnestly this week. New sparring partners are arriving at Tunney's camp in the Adirondacks. Heeney, who has followed a light boxing programme at Fairhaven for the last two weeks, has added his brother, Jack, a middleweight, and one or two other leather pushers to his retinue.

Italians To Play Stiff Schedule

Six Games For Italian A. C. This Week If Weather Stays Good

If Old Man Rain does not interfere with the program of the Italian A. C., the Italians will play six games this forthcoming week. The program will start off with the fast Hillsville team of the National section coming to the Centennial field tonight, engaging in a regular scheduled league game with the Italian A. C. The game will be the first time that the Hillsville team has met the Italians on foreign soil.

Hillsville will present their strongest lineup. The Italians have already defeated the Hillsville team this year and the Hillsville team will be out for revenge, and at the same time strengthen their hold on third place in the league standing. The game will start at 6:30 o'clock D. S. T. Jamieson, Turco, Kirker or Cialella will do the hurling for the Italians with "Ducky" Guinaugh catching. For Hillsville, Augostine may be found on the mound.

Tuesday night will find the Radiator A. C. team on the Centennial field playing a postponed game of the National section with the Italian A. C. Wednesday, the fourth, the Italians will play two exhibition games, in the morning the fast Edenburg team will be met in Edenburg and in the afternoon Lowellville will be engaged as the second part of the holiday program in Lowellville. Dimlings at Lawrence Juniors.

The Keystones downed the C. C. Sluggers 4 to 2 in a game played in the Junior Recreation league at the P. & L. E. grounds on Saturday. Majocha on the knoll for the Keystones pitched a brilliant game, allowing but five hits and fanning thirteen men. Soho also pitched a fine game for the Sluggers. Ostrosky with a tripple had the only extra-base blow of the contest. S. Baker and Majocha had the most hits.

Samson's wife got stylish one day and gave him a bob. It threw him off his game so that in the next match he sliced a three-inch putt and retired.

Arthur Newton and Gavuzzi, participants in C. C. Pyle's cross-country race, have departed from Lawrence county. Earle Lin Dilks, however, a resident here, was on the road Saturday.

Lou Gehrig delivered the punch yesterday when he smashed two home runs when the Yanks played the Macks and won twice.

Suzanne Laird, Homestead, finished second in the 100-meter swim in the women's Olympic swimming tryouts at Rockaway Beach yesterday.

Joie Ray, America's leading marathon runner, won an eight-mile modified race on the Wildwood, N. J., boardwalk in 41:06.

New Castle plays a doubleheader here on the Fourth of July. Canton and Akron will be the opposing teams. The first game with Canton starts at 10:15 a. m. and the tilt with Akron at 3:15 p. m.

Frank Ripple and Rene Turner, two of Ohio's leading auto racers, have been entered in the 100-mile event at Butler July 4. Auto races also will be held at Bridgeville.

Garland Buckeye, hurler for the Indians, has been given his unconditional release. A bad arm sent him into a slump and he is looking for another berth in the big circuit.

Ritticisms

BY BILL RITT

The greatest golfer in history was a fellow named Samson. He won the national open 5,000 years ago.

Samson had one great illusion. He thought a person's head was a golf ball and a neck was a tee.

Sam used only one club, but it was effective. It consisted of the lower bridge work of an ex-mule.

Between tournaments Samson kept in practice by winning a war or two for his country. The king always kept Samson completely moblized and his mashie-niblick was subject to draft.

But the king was afraid that some day Samson might forget which side he was on and mistake his majesty's crown for a divot.

However, Samson was more proud of his beard than his golf score. He made good money doubling for cornfields in the movies.

Golfers Start State Tourney At Pittsburgh

Several Of Golfdom's Greatest Stars In Annual Pennsylvania Tourney At Oakmont

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 2.—With several of golfdom's brightest stars entered, the Pennsylvania state open championship started today over the difficult Oakmont course.

A field of 64 golfers were to start in the first 18-hole play of the 72-hole tourney that will be played today and tomorrow. Perfect weather conditions attended for the opening rounds.

Among the notables entered were Jock Hutchinson, Chicago, former national open champ; Tommy Armour, 1927 national open champion; "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, Joe Kirkwood, trick shot artist.

Native sons of the state who were rated high in the favorite list were Bill Leech, young Philadelphian, who startled everyone by his spectacular play in the first two days of the recent national open championship at Chicago.

Another Pennsylvanian rated a good chance was Larry Nabholtz, Sharon veteran, who has been a figure in every prominent golf tournament of recent years. Experts also liked the chance of Emmet French, Youngstown, O., professional, who won the Keystone State championship in 1924.

Peter Walsh, Greenville, Pa., youngster, and James B. Fownes of Pittsburgh were among the amateurs entered. There is $500 prize money for the pros.

M'Kechnie "Luck" Must Be Brains

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

The baseball fan flock in general evidences considerable interest in William McKechnie's success with the St. Louis Cardinals. The St. Louis fan delegation, unpledged for a time after the departure of Rogers Hornsby and failure of Bob O'Farrell to carry on, has hopped on the band wagon regardless of whatever stand Bill may take on farm relief and prohibition.

But there is at least a small element in Pittsburgh, where Bill won his first pennant as a pilot, who are still questioning the quiet one's ability as a pilot.

Voicing the feeling of this faction one Pittsburgh writer in mentioning the Cardinals' success, refers to the "breaks Bill is either having showered on him or forcing".

If McKechnie is having the breaks "showered" on him he is developing a happy knack of standing where the rain falls.

No one "showered" Rabbit Maranville on McKechnie. The Card boss picked him up when the other major league clubs decided he was through—and tossed him into Tommy Thevenow's shoes.

He took Taylor Douthit, a fair outfielder but a good hitter, and made him into a brilliant outfielder. If that be luck showered on Mr. McKechnie there are 15 major league owners who would like to have their managers drenched with such luck.

The Cardinals recently annihilated the Cincy Reds in a series of games, partly due to McKechnie's astuteness in tossing no less a personage than Grover Alexander into the breach on occasions, rather than using some bull-pen artists when the going became tough. More breaks showered perhaps. Oh, for more such showers!

Against these same Reds McKechnie sent Ray Blades in as a pinch hitter. Ray hadn't been in the game for weeks and weeks. He delivered with a hit that cleared the sacks. More luck, perhaps. The same kind that Bill had when he sent Carson Bigbee in as a pinch hitter in the world's series of 1925. All Carson did was to sock the old apple for two bases and sew up the series. Funny how luck should strike Bill so often in the same manner and at the right time.

There's a long pull ahead. The Cardinals face a bitter fight to hold their lead. McKechnie is saying nothing. There is something to be said for him, however. If he and his Cardinals come through this season the skeptics will have a hard time robbing Bill of the credit due him. McKechnie has no front office strategy board. Those who might have been so classed have been disposed of. The fact that the Cardinals improved rather than slipped with their departure may or may not indicate anything.

MAKES NEW RECORD IN SPEECH MAKING

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—A record for radio speech making on a single topic is believed to have been made by Harry E. Bartow, economist of the Pierce school here, who broadcasts every week from station WLIT. Bartow has spoken 83 times in the last two years on the same subject—business conditions.

Still, any man who expends the energy necessary to keep himself perfect hasn't time to fret about the morals of anybody else.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 2—After an irregular opening, in which gains and losses were about evenly divided, the market developed a slightly reactionary tone in the early trading today, and the industrial list moved downward, with the motor and steel stocks, leading the way to lower prices.

The money situation was the dominant factor. The renewal rate for call money was posted at 7½ per cent. This is a fractional concession from last week's final quotation, but an unusual heavy tax on speculative operations at this time of year. The 7½ per cent call loan rate means a charge to traders of from 8 to 9 per cent on marginal balances, against income yields of 3 to 4½ per cent on stocks carried in the accounts. In many cases no income is returned on industrial and specialty stocks thus carried. There is a prospect of easier money conditions by the middle of this month.

General Motors sold off about 3 points at 187 in the first hour, and Radio, lost 1¾ at 181. Losses of a point or two were recorded for many of the speculative leaders, including the motor shares which led in last week's aggressive recovery. Wall street leaders were somewhat suspicious of this move, attributing it mostly to the "strong arm" methods of the professionals who undoubtedly have thousands of shares of stock to sell. The market therefore quieted down considerably in the second hour and price changes were narrow.

The commodity markets were irregular. Grain prices were firm in all options.

Gene Robertson is the boy doing the virtually impossible—making the New York fans forget Joe Dugan.

Jumping Joe has been so long at the third corner of the Yankee infield that when he was taken out and replaced by the former St. Paul third baseman Yankee fans doubted the outcome.

But not for long. Robertson has been crashing the apple at such a clip and fielding so well that he has become one of the leading hot corner artists in the loop.

Personalities In Sport

MARK KOENIG

Mark Anthony Koenig, shortstop for the world's champion Yankees, was born in San Francisco, Cal., July 19, 1904.

Koenig started his professional career with the Moose Jaw club of the Western Canada League in 1921, and was grabbed by St. Paul when the Moose Jaw disbanded.

St. Paul optioned the young infielder to Jamestown in the Dakota league, and later to Des Moines of the Western. By the end of 1925, Koenig had become such a stellar player that the Yanks bought him from the Saints for $50,000 in cash and players.

Never a great hitter, his splendid defensive work has made him an integral part of the Yankee machine. Though Koenig has never hit .300 in a major league season, strangely enough, his world series work with the stick is little short of sensational. His batting average for the two series that he has participated in has been .313.

Schuylkill Women Paying Tax Bills

Threats By Collection Agencies Bring Results When Officials Fail

Senatorial Candidate Has Elimination Of Personal Tax As Platform

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 2.— More than 5000 women in this county, delinquent in taxes, have paid up within a few days, convinced that prosecutions would be entered if they refused to hand over the amounts due for personal taxes.

In every instance women owning property paid that tax promptly but since the enfranchisement of women, large numbers of the sex in this county had the belief that if they did not vote they did not have to pay personal taxes.

Where women are placed on the assessment rolls, they must pay taxes, if they vote or not. Tax collectors were loth to bring suits against large numbers of women but their bondsmen were notified the collectors would be held responsible for the payment of the taxes for women.

The problem was solved, so far as the collectors were concerned, when they formed the tax bills over to agencies accustomed to collect delinquent bills. These agencies quickly convinced all who failed to pay up that prosecution would follow.

The personal taxes now amount to a considerable item in the budget of many towns in this country, since the school boards are levying $5 in personal taxes, for educational purposes, in addition to the regular impost. In some families, where there are a number of women, the personal taxes run up to a large sum, particularly where the payment has been neglected, and all the penalties are added.

In this city the women have paid their taxes without demur but in the surrounding boroughs the collectors experienced much trouble in the collections. The agencies now collecting the taxes are giving a chance to have the amounts required paid in instalments.

MISSING MAIL PILOT IS FOUND DEAD ON FARM

Leslie Smith's Parachute Untouched And Unopened; Wrecked Plane Near

ELSINORE, Mo., July 2.—The body of Leslie H. Smith, missing air pilot, was found lying by his plane about five miles north of here at noon Sunday by a farmer boy.

On his back was strapped his parachute, with the release untouched indicating that the crash had come suddenly and left him unprepared to leap.

The body was positively identified as Smith's by "Bud" Gurney, chief air mail pilot of Robertson Aircraft Co., employers of the pilot. Gurney was one of twenty flyers who searched the region yesterday and today for Smith, who left Little Rock, Ark., on Thursday night for St. Louis, carrying pictures from the Democratic convention at Houston.

The army dirigible C-53 joined yesterday in the hunt for Smith.

It is believed by members of the searching party that Smith encountered a terrific storm in the territory and lost all sense of direction, probably crashing when he had believed the plane was climbing.

Grove City Plans Quiet Day On 4th

Civic Clubs Feel There Is Little Demand For Huge Fireworks Displays

GROVE CITY, July 2.—Grove City will spend a quiet day on July 4. Nothing outside the regular celebration of reunions and picnics has been scheduled for this year.

It is expected that a large number of the members of the Country club will spend the day at the local club with their families and friends.

Many will attend the annual reunion at the George Junior Republic while others will visit various places where celebrations are scheduled for this day. Very little premature celebrating with fireworks has been heard on account of the order forbidding their use until the day for celebration.

The civic organizations which in former years sponsored community celebrations with huge fireworks displays in the evening have felt that there is little demand for such an event this year.
